U. S. OFFICERS MAY NOT STEP OVER RIGHTS

Government Agents Can Be

A Private Individual Has No

One-sided Contract

Washington.—Officers of the government, acting ostensibly for the government, may be sued for exceeding their authority and they then become personally liable in damages arising out of such exercise of power beyond their authority. Also, the government may offer a one-sided contract to a private individual and there is no recourse to the latter if he signs such a contract.

These two important principles of law have just been affirmed in positive terms by the supreme court of the United States in one of the large group of decisions handed down at the end of the regular term.

The first principle bears no relation to the second though they happen both to be included in the suit which the War Department won against Edward F. Goltz of St. Louis, Mo., who sought to restrain the government from taking away from his horses he had leased from the government.

Nor will the effect of the two principles be felt particularly in cases like the Goltz case, suit which was unique. Rather it is likely that the first principle relating to the personal responsibility of the individual who happens to be a government officer will be referred to time and again in connection with the acts of federal officers attempting to enforce the Volstead law.

EFFECTS LAW ENFORCES

If a prohibition agent, for instance, discovers liquor held illegally and destroys the liquor summarily instead of taking it before the court as required by section 25 of the Volstead act, the agent may be sued personally for his illegal act. If already has been provided that if a prohibition agent exercises his authority with undue severity in execution of a search warrant he may be fined $1,000 or imprisoned one year. On the other hand, an agent of the government may use all the power necessary to execute a specifically authorized power.

The point developed in the supreme court decision just announced is that government officers must be careful not to act rashly in behalf of the government. Mr. Goltz contended the boats were taken from him by army officers without notice on the day of seizure.

The circuit court would have been reversed if the issue had rested on that point alone. At it was the supreme court decided the matter in favor of the government and the grounds that the contract originally entered into gave the War Department the right to say whether the contract was being fulfilled and there could be no quarrel, the court said, with the exercise by the War Department of the discretionary power of its experts.

U. S. HAS UPPER HAND

"The case leaves no doubt," wrote Mr. Taft, "that such a provision for termination of a contract is valid, and there is an inherent good faith in the exercise of the judgment. Here nothing of the kind is shown. Such a stipulation may be a harsh one or an unjust one but it is valid and binding if entered into. It is often illustrated in government contracts in which the determination of the vital issue under the contract is left to the decision of the government officer."

In this particular case the War Department itself by such restrictions placed on the rates that could be charged on the Mississippi for carrying freight made it impossible, according to Mr. Goltz, to operate the barges and they were tied up pending his argument with the War Department which in turn seized the boats for non-use.

This is typical of the difficulties encountered by a merchant in dealing with the government and one of the big handicaps the shipping board suffered from in making contracts for government ships. Recently however the courts have held that the Emergency Fleet corporation could be sued without its consent and this privilege, it is believed will ultimately have to be specified before government bureaus can make purchases and enter into mutually advantageous contracts with private firms.

REFUSES TO SHOOT ENEMY IN DUEL OVER POLISH COUP D'ETAT

Warsaw.—(AP)—Count Skrzynski and General Sapiezko who quarreled over the recent Polish coup d'etat, fought a duel with revolvers Tuesday in a friend's house in Warsaw. The general's bullet missed, and Skrzynski refused to shoot.

The duel was held in the presence of several and a court of honor. The principals agreed to fire a single shot each, at a distance of 15 paces. Upon the signal "fire," General Sapiezko turned and fired. His bullet grazed Count Skrzynski's hair and buried itself in the wall of the room. Count Skrzynski dramatically lowered his revolver and said: "I wish to state that I decidedly do not want to shoot. If there is any one here who thinks it is necessary to defend his honor or takes issue with my ideas, let him shoot. But I shall not shoot."

SONS CHARGE RICH FATHER WITH BIGAMY

Mayonnaise King Who Eloped
With Milwaukee Woman
Will Contest Case

Mexico City.—(AP)—Charges and counter charges between John Mayonnaise, 72, a wealthy manufacturer and Albert F. Goltz, a former Princeton student and football player, are flying in the courts here.

The sons charge the father with perjury and bigamy. The father alleges against the forcible entry and assault. The sons declared they are only seeking justice for their mother, whom they assert their father deserted, eloping with Mrs. Elenora Bombach Phillips of Milwaukee, with whom he is at present residing as his wife in a fashionable apartment here. The father says the sons are after his money. This they deny.

The allegations against the elder Howard were filed by a local Attorney Telsor Ocampo. He charges Mr. Howard arrived in Mexico in January, accompanied by Mrs. Phillips and that later with still another woman he went to Cuernavaca and obtained a "divorce" by representing this woman as his wife.

Returning to Mexico City, it is alleged that Mr. Howard "married" Mrs. Phillips. Ocampo bases his perjury charge on the oath Howard is said to have made in the Cuernavaca divorce court and the bigamy charge on a statement that his real wife is living in Haverhill.

WILL CONTEST CASE

It is expected the cases will be bitterly contested, as both Mr. Howard and his sons have engaged eminent counsel. Both sons are now in Mexico City, having followed their father here some time ago.

John Howard says his father met Mrs. Phillips during a steamship trip around the world in 1923 and became infatuated with her. Mr. Howard did not go on the tour. After the father's return to Massachusetts, he went each month to Milwaukee to visit Mrs. Phillips and gave her expensive presents. The mother, the son declares, thought the father was away on business trips.

John asserts that until the father met Mrs. Phillips, he was a loving and devoted husband. He says the father refused every appeal to return to Haverhill and make a "decent settlement on mother." Therefore, John and his brother intend to fight to a finish for their mother's rights.

"Brother and myself went to father's apartment in Mexico City," said John. "A servant denied that father lived there, but I saw him peeping through a crack in the door. I brushed through the door. Father drew a pistol but I took it away from him. Father then had brother and myself arrested charged with forcible entry and assault."

KRUECK NEW PRESIDENT OF B. & L. CLUBS

Two Cities Seek Building and Loan Convention for Next Year

Fred Krueck of Milwaukee was elected president of the Wisconsin State League of Building and Loan associations at the final session of the state convention here Tuesday morning. Other officers elected were F. E. Bachuber, Wausau, first vice president; H. L. Garner, Madison, second vice president; L. E. Stanton of Milwaukee, secretary; Emil Tanek of Watertown, treasurer; J. F. LeFebvre of Green Bay was nominated for first vice president, but he declined to be a candidate; third, the invitations for the 1927 convention were extended by Wisconsin Rapids and Rhinelander. The convention city will be chosen by the executive committee in the near future.

Otto T. Salick, Milwaukee, second vice president of the United States League of Local Building and Loan associations gave five reasons for favorable legislation and support of building and loan associations in a speech before the convention Tuesday morning.

FAVORABLE TERMS

They were that no other loaning plan or financing organization offers favorable terms to home seekers of moderate means; second, that it is profitable for the country at large to promote the industry of home building in every way possible; third, that any exemptions granted to loan associations in the last two or three years applies principally to the middle and wealthier classes of society and not to the working classes; fourth, the need of more modern and up-to-date homes to relieve the inadequate housing conditions of the poorer people; fifth, that tax exemptions granted to local retailers will lessen the chances for wealthy speculators and in the long run increase the public revenue because of the remarkable growth enjoyed by the associations under these exemptions.

"Building and loan associations will continue to prosper as long as they continue on a straightforward and honest basis," Mr. Salick declared.

In speaking of the work of the national league of which he is an officer Mr. Salick said the organization has undertaken a nationwide survey of building and loan associations. It sent questionnaires to 12,383 local loan groups throughout the country. The speaker urged cooperation of local retailers in filling out these questionnaires to make the national movement a success.

LABOR HEAD HITS GENERAL STRIKE

Green Tells Rotarians That
Contest Is Between Employees and Government

Denver, Colo.—(AP)—General strikes which would involve the violation of wage agreements, were condemned Tuesday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address before the convention of the Rotary International, held here Tuesday.

A general strike, he said, means that the line of industrial conflict is immediately changed so that it seems to become a contest between employees and employers. He contended that the real issues of the strike are lost sight of in the maelstrom of public opinion and public inconveniences, the original grievance which caused the general strike, no matter how meritorious, must remain unsettled until after the general strike has ended. This he declared, works untold hardship and makes more difficult the bringing about of a sound adjustment of the real grievance.

President Green enumerated some of the outstanding achievements of organized labor in the United States including the shorter work day, increase in wages, abolishment of the sweat shop, and tenement house slavery, legislation for the health, comfort and safety of wage earners and compensation laws, he told of the "careless fight" to bring about the adoption of the proposed amendment to the constitution to forbid child labor.

Strike Forces England To Buy Coal Supply Abroad

London.—(AP)—The government has been alleged to place orders abroad for maintenance of essential supplies of coal, Premier Baldwin said in opening the debate on the coal strike in the house of commons Tuesday. He would make no attempt he said, to apportion the blame for the coal stoppage, a folly which must leave everyone worse off than at the beginning but would address himself to finding a way of escape and a return to the common sense which alone would save the situation.

Mr. Baldwin said difficulty arose from the fact that for the period immediately preceding 1924, the prosperity of the coal trade rested on an artificial basis. The only relief that could come from within the industry lay in measures of reorganization and diminution of labor costs, as the researches of the royal coal commission had shown.

The government he announced, had come quite definitely to the conclusion that a return to the longer working day was essential. This was greeted by loud and angry cries of "no" from the opposition.

Mr. Baldwin said he had received positive assurances from the owners that on the basis of an eight hour day, in coal fields producing approximately half the country's output, the men could be offered continuance of the existing wages for July, August and September.

Over more than half of the remainder of the country the reduction, if any, would be materially less than the ten per cent drop which at present is requested by the owners. The new wage could be guaranteed during July, August and September.

LENROOT WILL CANCEL DATES IN CAMPAIGN

Senator Postpones Renomination Talks Until Farm
Legislation Is Over

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, who spoke here Monday night at a flag day exercise, is uncertain when he will begin his campaign for renomination due to the condition of the farm legislation now before the legislature. He was scheduled to deliver his opening address at Ripon, Wis., Wednesday night, but that date has been cancelled, and he may not be able to return to the state before June 23, when he is expected to make a special trip to Ripon, and return immediately to Washington.

In his address Monday night Senator Lenroot said: "The man who does not respect the flag, who does not love it above all other things, though he be clothed in the mantle of citizenship is not a good American."

"Our flag is the only emblem of sovereignty we have," he continued. "It is not the flag of a ruler, but the flag of a people." It represents our entire history it represents our constitution and the higher ideals and noblest aspirations of one hundred and twenty millions of people.

"For 149 years it has been the symbol of liberty under law, of justice, of government of and by and for the people."

DUTY TO DEFEND COUNTRY

"We have many problems calling for solution, wrongs do exist there are evils to be remedied. We may disagree about what remedies should be applied, but there should be no disagreement about our obligations to serve our country and to defend it in peace and war. If there be any among us who believes that some other country is better than ours they should be invited to go to that country that they love better. America can do without them."

Senator Lenroot left Tuesday for Washington.

Andrew H. Dahl of La Crosse was appointed to head Senator Lenroot's Personal Committee during the coming election campaign.

CHICAGO SOAP HEIRESS FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Chicago.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Johnson Massee, heir to the estate of Caleb Johnson, founder of a large soap concern has filed suit for divorce in superior court here against Burt Aland Massee, assistant president of the company. The bill charges cruelty, it is said since one instance three years ago when Mr. Massee is alleged to have struck his wife while in a restaurant. There are two children.

WINS $100,000 DAMAGE FROM MOTHER-IN-LAW

New York.—(AP)—Mrs. Elsie Hinman Tuesday was awarded $100,000 damages by a jury which had heard her $250,000 allegation of affection's suit against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph C. Dula, widow of Robert B. Dula, former Vice President American Tobacco Co.

Find Man Sane Who Fakes Suicide To Win Clara Bow

Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—Robert W. Savage former Yale football player Tuesday is considering his self selected title "world's champion sap" and pondering the version of an "ego complex" furnished by Clara Bow, screen star at a hearing here Monday at which he was found sane after slashing his wrists in an effort to win the actress' love.

In a mild rebuke, Judge Gates of the lunacy commission in dismissing the complaint told Savage that he "had done an unprofessional thing" but that he was not insane. "Love hit me like a thunder bolt. But that is all over now. In the spring the sap flows. I mistook sap for blood and I proved myself the world's champion sap," the one time ardent lover and

REED GRILLS TREASURER OF VARE PRIMARY

Exhausts Talents in Effort to Find Source of $25,000
Contribution

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Non-plussed over the ins and outs of campaign collections made in Pennsylvania this spring for William S. Vare the senate campaign funds committee Tuesday had to change its course of investigation and tackle the question from a new angle.

With Thomas F. Watson treasurer of the Vare organization in Philadelphia on the stand Chairman Reed exhausted his celebrated talents as a cross-examiner in an effort to find out the original source of a $25,000 contribution and finally gave it up and temporarily quit the committee room.

"Anyone can ask this gentleman questions that wants to," said Reed, "I'm through."

With that he walked out. The crowd buzzed and Watson sat waiting in the witness chair.

Senator McNary Republican, Oregon finally rapped for order and questioned Watson, who said the $25,000, which he himself contributed to the fund, represented "accretions" from his business over quite a period. The witness also said he drew part of it out of the bank.

By this time Reed had returned, however, and he went back to the examination.

"You had money in the bank, where it was safe and too hot to your office?" He asked.

REED CONTINUES PROBE

"Yes, I accumulated the $25,000 because I did not want to send a check as I did not want to send a check as I had contributed $25,000 to the campaign," Watson finally said.

At that the chairman called the committee to a corner of the room where it decided to excuse Watson and decide later whether to call for his books and accounts at the bank.

Harry A. MacKey, city treasurer of Philadelphia and state wide manager of the Vare organization then was called to the stand. He was the third witness of the day. Representative Vare himself having occupied the stand for a short time at the opening of the session.

MacKey went through a long description of how he organized the state and appeals to all fraternal organizations to support Vare. He asked Representative Morris to organize in Pittsburgh and look after adjoining counties. L. S. Roberts and King Wolfe, of Armstrong-co, were the managers for Vare in Allegheny-co, and signed a receipt for $2,000 they received from Morin for campaign work.

"I was told that they divided the money after getting it in Pittsburgh, each taking $1,000," said MacKey. "King Wolfe dropped in one of those Pittsburgh political clubs. When he woke up his face was battered in and the $1,000 was gone."

"Was that a Pepper or Pinchot political club?" Asked Senator King Democrat Utah.

"I can't say," MacKey replied.

11 DIE, 43 HURT IN GARY EXPLOSION

Estimate Property Damage of Illinois Steel Co. at Several Million

Gary, Ind.—(AP)—Cause of the explosion which wrecked the coke by-products plant of the Illinois Steel Co. here Monday taking a toll of 11 lives and injuring 43; one possibly fatally will not be known until a thorough investigation has been made, officials said Tuesday.

Pending this investigation which is under way, K. M. Burr, safety inspector at the plant said nothing would be given out by the company.

The dead includes Leslie Richardson, mill foreman, four other white men and six negroes.

While company officials would venture no estimate as to the property damage, several persons familiar with the plant which covered an area equal to two city blocks, said it undoubtedly would reach millions.

Five of the victims died instantly. They were near one of the large coke ovens when it exploded. Walls of the building collapsed and the roof was blown into fragments. Coal tar and acids drenched the victims and fire broke out in the debris hampering rescue work.

The blast, several survivors said, occurred in the saturator of a coke oven.

8 MOSLEMS KILLED IN INTER-COMMUNAL RIOTS

Sinla, British India.—(AP)—Eight Moslems were killed and fourteen Moslems and nine Sikhs injured in inter-communal riots which broke out at Sinla Monday night, owing to the suggested erection of a motion picture theatre near a Mosque. The grain market was destroyed, and extensive looting occurred in the side streets.

Military pickets have been stationed throughout the town and the situation Tuesday was well under control.

HAUGEN FARM BILL NOT DEAD

Representative Rubey Says
Farmers Are Enthusiastic for Measure

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The Haugen farm relief bill similar in principle to the McNary measure pending in the senate "is not dead" despite its recent defeat in the house, it was asserted on the floor Tuesday by Representative Rubey, Democrat, Missouri, a member of the agricultural committee.

"The farmers who understand the principles of this bill—and most of them do—are enthusiastically in favor of it," he contended, asserting that, just as "every possible effort was made to have it reported as the administration measure," he added "but this found to be a very difficult thing to do."

He said a majority of the committee had emerged from the two months of hearings in favor of the Haugen bill. Secretary Jardine advised the Fincher credit plan, and "every possible effort was made to have it reported as the administration measure," he added "but this found to be a very difficult thing to do."

30,400 ARE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS DURING PAST YEAR

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A world survey showing that about 30,400 persons were killed and 868,000 injured in automobile accidents last year was made public Tuesday by Charles M. Upham, managing director of the American Road Builders' association.

Accidents in the United States accounted for more than 80 per cent of the fatalities he said, placing the United Kingdom second with 968 followed by France with 723 and Canada with 702.

"The enormous toll of automobile accidents in the world is partly the result of highway construction," Mr. Upham explained, "although the greater number of deaths are caused by careless and incompetent driving."

COURT DENIES DISCHARGE TO JOHN YOHANEK

Aged Wisconsin Man Will Be Tried in Circuit Court for Wife Murder

Manitowoc.—(AP)—Motion to discharge John Yohaneck, held on a charge of murdering his wife, was denied at the close of the preliminary hearings Monday and the man was bound over without bail to his district court for trial. Attorneys for the defense had not decided whether a writ of habeas corpus would be asked or whether the case would be scheduled for trial at the present term of circuit court. Yohaneck remained composed throughout the trial and willingly accompanied the sheriff back to jail at the close of the hearing Monday.

Testimony Monday revealed that Mr. and Mrs. Yohaneck did their buying of household necessities individually, that they never visited anywhere together and never had any visitors at their home, except some of their children. Mrs. Yohaneck, the daughter admitted, always kept her bed room door locked at night, but said she knew no reason for such action. It was shown the old man had shown no remorse over the death of his wife and had not appeared excited when he called for help at neighbors and informed them of the blaze and that "his old lady" was in the house. Rubin, Milwaukee attorney, in his argument attempted to discredit the testimony of Dr. C. H. Bunting, university expert who was called to make the autopsy, saying that it was necessary to dig the body up twice in order that the doctor satisfy himself a crime had been committed and then he was not sure of it. He ridiculed the idea of a man of Yohaneck's age killing his wife and dismembering the body in the manner the remains of Mrs. Yohaneck had been treated.

The removal of the intestines was stressed together with the disappearance of a half of the pelvis but the court held that a crime had been committed and there was probably cause to believe the defendant guilty and bound him over.

EXPECT VOTE ON MEASURE BY THURSDAY

Secretary of Treasury Explains
Objections in Letter to Haugen

ASK SOUTH TO AID PLAN

President of American Cotton
Growers Supports Equalization Fee

Washington.—(AP)—With a vote approaching in the senate on the McNary equalization fee measure, the list of prominent proponents and opponents of the principle outside of congress continues to grow.

Secretary Mellon's name appeared Tuesday among those who have declared against the plan including Secretary Jardine and B. Froakum, New York financier and advocate of the commodity marketing proposal written into the Curtis-Aswell bill.

Joining the ranks opposing their view—which include Vice President Dawes and Bernard M. Baruch of New York was the American Cotton Growers' exchange, the president of which, R. M. Kilgore, has written a letter to southern senators in support of the plan.

The senate, meanwhile has completed general debate on the McNary measure, which is similar to the Haugen bill recently voted down in the house, and expects to reach a vote on it Wednesday or Thursday.

The views of Secretary Mellon were set forth in letter to Chairman Haugen of the house agriculture committee and Representative Dickinson of Iowa, and Anthony of Kansas, Republican proponents of the plan, in compliance with a request from them for his opinion.

MELLON GIVES OPINION

Declaring the proposed legislation would prove "neither workable nor beneficial" he said:

"I can see no permanent relief for American agriculture through subsidizing foreign competition; and that, in my opinion is what the bill if it becomes a law will do."

Kilgore's letter to the southern senators whose support is regarded by proponents of the McNary measure as essential for its passage, said:

"The cotton cooperatives are fairly representative of the best element of cotton farmers in their several states and shows conclusively that the conditions of our farmers and with the factors and influences which determine their prosperity, the cooperatives are supporting this bill and earnestly request you to vote for it."

Under the McNary measure $75,000,000 would be applied to the handling of cotton surpluses, and the equalization fee would not be assessed against this commodity for two years.

Toskum in a letter to secretary Mellon made public today reiterated his arguments in support of the Curtis-Aswell bill and declared that "a study of the uneconomical, impracticable and fundamentally unsound McNary-Haugen bill, when analyzed, shows conclusively that it would be of no benefit to the farmers, with added burdens to the already overtaxed consumers."

RELIGION IS
LIVES WE LEAD

Dr. Kinsman Tells Bible Class
Man Should Constantly
Strive for Perfection

"The new interpretation of religion is that it is an expression of life rather than an assent to any creed," Dr. D. C. Kinsman, Lawrence college instructor, said in an address to the Adult Summer Bible class of First Methodist church at its first meeting Sunday morning in the Social Union room of the church.

"The new idea," said Dr. Kinsman, "covers not only one or two religious services a week and it is not measured by attendance at religious meetings or contributions to religious causes but it is measured by the life which we lead seven days a week and 24 hours a day."

WORK FOR PERFECTION

"All human society must work toward becoming as perfect as the Creator himself if this human society is ever to be called truly Christian," Dr. Kinsman said. "It is hardly conceivable that the Creator without first creating a purpose or formulating a plan for the beings of that world. I believe that purpose to be the working toward ultimately being as perfect as the Creator himself."

Three factors enter into the life of the individual according to Dr. Kinsman and they are inheritance, environment and will. The first is supplied by ones ancestors, the second by society and the third by ourselves. Dr. Kinsman then showed the relation of the three factors in the religious life of the ordinary man or woman. He traced religion through the ages, and told of the five steps which had been taken to bring about cooperation which helped to protect and teach the weak.

SIXTH STEP REMAINS

"The sixth step remains still to be taken," Prof. Kinsman said. "and it is up to the stronger nations of the present world to take it. Whether this step is to be the world court or the League of Nations or some other more along this line is not for me to say but the spirit of Christ will never allow man to rest until a brotherhood of humanity has been formed and the power and ability of the stronger nations is placed at the service and for the betterment of the world at large."

This Bible school is a combination of the John McNaughton class for women and the Friendship class for men. Mrs. William Crow, president of the John McNaughton class is to have charge of the Bible school for the first half of the summer session and Frank Sager, president of the Friendship class, will have charge of the school the second half.

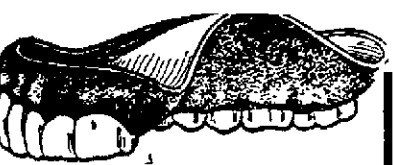

Loving devotion to Our Kindred is to be the subject of an address by Dr. A. A. Trever at the meeting of the class next Sunday.

The John McNaughton class for women will be entertained at a banquet at the church basement at 630 Tuesday evening. The banquet is being given by the Friendship class. A special program is being provided by the men. I. J. Cameron, C. O. Davis and Frank Wright are on the "Kitchen Police" committee and William Mallory and Louis Phillips are on "table duty."

STUDY WAYS TO AID EMIGRANTS

Catholic Central Society Devises Method to Help
Youths at Meeting Here

"In getting a higher education religion should not be neglected because man should remember that his business in this life is to prepare for the next," the Rev. A. Garthaus of Brillion said in an address before the Catholic Central society Sunday afternoon at Sacred Heart hall.

Father Garthaus explained the value of a higher education and what it meant to the present day youth. He said most higher education is from a technical standpoint and stressed that the religious education is neglected.

Henry Schmitz gave a review of the activities of the Catholic Central Verein, and he also told of the work and aims of the Catholic Women's league. The Rev. F. L. Ruessman, pastor of Sacred Heart church gave the address of welcome.

Owing to the heavy rain Sunday only about 29 delegates were present at the meeting although there was a large crowd at the public meeting which followed the business session. Delegates were present from Kaukauna, Brillion, Chilton, Menasha, New London, and Appleton. Many Catholics from Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet-cos attended the public meeting.

The questions of emigrant and youth welfare were discussed at the business meetings and steps were taken to help American and educate foreigners and help them get settled when they arrive. The convention also voted to play a part in the life of the Catholic youth, by helping him to learn to play and work and think right.

The next meeting is to be held in the latter part of August either in Brillion or Chilton.

DENTAL SOCIETY WILL MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Wisconsin State Dental society will hold its annual meeting and golf tournament at Milwaukee July 12, 13, 14 and 15. The golf tournament will be held July 12 and the business meetings will take place at Hotel Pfister on the three days following. Several Appleton dentists are planning to attend.

Appleton Is Tame City,
Police Department Says

"What is seen, heard and imagined by Appleton police at night?" That's a question almost everyone in the city asks himself at one time or another. For the lover of pirate tales and swashbuckling deeds the answer is disappointing. Murder does not walk rampant with reeking knife, romantic Robin Hoods and despicable John Silvers do not lurk in dark corners at the mystic hour of midnight or in the every hours of early morning—not even prosaic pickpockets or businesslike bootleggers of these commonplace times infest the byways of the city—or if they do they give the police a wide berth.

"To go to any other place in Wisconsin the size of Appleton or larger and you will find more disturbances at night," Police Sergeant Herbert W. Kapp advises those who seek excitement. This condition he attributes largely to the lack of a large foreign element and to the fact that the population of the city is largely "middle-class American—the best on earth."

Other places of the size of Appleton have their slum districts, Sergeant Kapp pointed out, and these are usually the breeding places of crime and general disorderliness. Of this condition Appleton is happily free. Occasional nondescripts drift in and out again, but there are no "underworld districts."

WEEKENDS BUSIEST

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights are nearly always quiet, "said Sergeant Kapp. "There is a slump in the amount of traffic after 10 o'clock. The reason, as far as we can make out, is that most persons are recuperating from the activities of the weekend. At any rate, the number of automobiles and persons about increases again from Thursday until Saturday night."

"Polish questions?" Sergeant Kapp echoed the query. Well they ask us almost everything you can imagine.

We are so many information bureaus for tourists, and many persons have an idea we're encyclopedias as well. Not long ago a man approached me with a grin on his face and a lump in his walk.

"I hear that a policeman knows everything," he said, "what's good for rheumatism?" "I couldn't tell him," "That reminds me of an excuse a chap made to me when I stopped him for speeding," chimed in Carl Redtke, motorcycle officer. "He was traveling about 35 miles an hour because, he said, there was a squeak in the rear end of his automobile somewhere, and he couldn't hear it when he was going fast."

"The first thing we do when an automobile is reported stolen is to check up on the other machines of the same make which are parked near the place of the missing car," said Sergeant Kapp. "The owner of another car sometimes takes the one reported stolen, leaving his own. We telephone to owners of the remaining cars, after finding their names of the license number. They are sometimes surprised to find that they have taken the wrong automobile home."

"PETTERS" ARE SCARCE

Automobile "spooners" or "petters" trouble the night policemen very little. The majority of them apparently go outside of the city limits. Those found in the outskirts of the city are told to move along, unless their car is parked in front of the home or one of the parties of the first part, according to Sergeant Kapp.

There are few "drunks" on the streets at night. When a policeman meets a person who is "feeling unusually good and whose step isn't too steady" he usually directs him to go home, unless he is obviously a nuisance or unable to take care of himself.

"We often hear expressions of surprise from residents of other cities that Appleton has only 17 men on the force, which is far below the average of other cities of the same size," Sergeant Kapp said. "While we were taking care of the crowd in front of the Post-Crescent office, as Dare-Devil Joe Smith was finishing his endurance run, a Madison man asked me how so few policemen could handle the large crowd so peaceably. Last summer we had six men taking care of the crowds, directing traffic, etc., at a circus. Milwaukee had 90 men out during the day and an additional 75 during the evening for the same circus—and the crowd here was by far the larger. "Quiet and beautiful Appleton" is the answer.

THIRTY-FOUR CONFIRMED
AT MT. OLIVE CHURCH

Confirmation services were held at the morning service at 9:15 Sunday morning at Mt. Olive Lutheran church. Thirty-four catechumens were confirmed by the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor. They were Thomas Dietrich, Gordon Daelke, Gladys Dix, Warren Butley, Irene Abendroth, Henry Dunsin, Robert Hennings, Harry Hove, Gordon Greiner, Harold Gainer, Arline Herrmann, Karl Kruckeberg, Robert Lossel, young, Raymond Poppe, Henry Ruscher, Ivin Kobs, Viola Krueger, Leland Knoke, Harry Schinke, Loyal Schmidt, Edward Steinacker, Harold Wiedenhaupt, Raymond Wundrow, Wesley Weinkauff, Doris Waltman, Laurinda Turkow, Inez Ziegler, Melvin Leopold, Edward Yahr and Viola Ruscher.

"Credit for the efficiency of the force belongs to Chief Prim. He knows his business and he is known all over the state. Police of other cities know that they can depend on him, eh, Red?"

"The chief's known in many cities throughout the United States," Officer Radtke answered. "Chief Prim is a regular fellow, and all of us would rather work for him than for anyone else."

The Time to prepare hot breakfast
now 3 to 5 minutes

QUICK QUAKER, savory and delicious, takes less time to prepare than plain toast. Thus provides a hot and nourishing breakfast in a hurry.

That is how every day should be started.

Started with the ideal food balance of protein, carbohydrates and vitamins—plus the "bulk" to make laxatives less often needed—that leading dietary authorities now so widely urge.

Start your days and your children's in that way. No need now, simply to save time, to deny them the supreme strength food of the world.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

A group of factory buildings on the United States Rubber Company's plantation at Kisan, Sumatra, including four Sprayed Rubber Producing Units. More of these plants for producing Sprayed Rubber are being built throughout the Far East by the United States Rubber Company.

Answering some Questions about the New "Sprayed Rubber"

- Q—What is Sprayed Rubber?
A—It is an entirely new form of crude rubber produced from rubber latex without the use of smoke or chemicals.
- Q—Who produces it?
A—The United States Rubber Company.
- Q—Where?
A—In Java and at its rubber plantations in Sumatra and on the Malay Peninsula, by means of a special patented process discovered by its technical staff and by means of special patented apparatus also designed by United States Rubber Company technicians.
- Q—What are its advantages?
A—It is used in just the same manner as any other form of crude rubber—but being produced without the use of smoke or chemicals, it is cleaner, more uniform in texture and has a higher tensile strength.
- Q—Is it used in building United States Tires?
A—Yes. Millions of pounds of it have been used, and more and more will be used all the time as new plants for producing it are completed by the United States Rubber Company in the Far East.
- Q—Does the United States Rubber Company make Sprayed Rubber only from rubber latex from its own plantations?
A—No. The Company considers that Sprayed Rubber is markedly superior to rubber derived from latex by the old methods. Therefore it has located factory units for producing Sprayed Rubber in various rubber producing areas in the Far East, thus supplementing the supply made from the latex from its own trees.

0 MILLION IN ASSETS OF LOAN CLUBS IN STATE

Membership Has Grown 40,000 in Last Year, Officers Report to Convention

Assets of the 467 building and loan clubs in the state, now totaling $4,000,000, according to the annual report read by L. E. Stanton, Milwaukee secretary of the Wisconsin League of Building and Loan associations at the opening session of the convention at the Conway Hotel Monday morning. Out of the 167 clubs, 146 are members of the league. Six associations have received charters since the last convention. They are Jackson, Pioneer and Italy associations of Milwaukee, Keweenaw Bay association, West Bend association and the Federal association of Racine. At least seven more associations will be added to the state next year, the report said. The Keweenaw association with assets of $1,300,000 is the largest outside league.

200,000 MEMBERS
The report of David F. Armitage, Milwaukee, president of the state league showed an increase of assets of $4,000,000 during the last year and a membership of about 200,000 at this time, an increase of 40,000 over the number reported a year ago. Mr. Armitage urged cooperation with other thrift organizations, especially banks. He said that the state league should look upon these organizations in a spirit of friendliness rather than from an attitude of jealousy or enmity. He added that there is a very definite lack of competition between the building and loan associations and these other organizations as the former fills a need both in the saving and borrowing standards which the others do not find active under their present business structures.

The president urged close cohesion within the league, stressing the importance of each individual submerging his personal desires or wishes to the will of the majority in order to maintain a strongly organized unit. Mr. Armitage also urged a large attendance at the convention of the National League of Building and Loan associations next month in Minneapolis.

DO AT OPENING OF LEGION CAMP

et Weather Forces Legionnaires to Hold Anniversary Celebration Indoors:

About 500 persons attended the first anniversary celebration of the opening of the state rehabilitation camp for World War veterans at Tomahawk Lake Sunday. A dinner started Sunday morning. A program was about to start and ceremonies were held in the camp assembly building. The feature of the day's program was music by the telephone band of the Onev Johnson of this city. The legion band of the Tomahawk post and the bugle and drum corps of the same post also took part in the program. Saturday the state executive committee of the legion, of which L. Hugo Keller of Appleton is a member, held its annual meeting and Saturday evening most of the legionnaires went to Rhinelander to attend a convention of the eleventh district of the state legion. This included a banquet and talks by state officers. The Onev Johnson post telephone band went to the state camp for tuberculosis sufferers, a short distance from the legion camp, early in the evening and played a program. Then it played for a dance of the legionnaires in the camp administration building. Several Appleton men attended the celebration. These included L. Hugo Keller, a past commander of the state legion, Alfred C. Bosser, James Alliet and John E. Hantschel, Erik Ladson, Louis Fisher, W. A. Phelps and Claude P. Schneider of Co. D, 25th Infantry, Capt. Fred B. Rogers led the band to the camp. Harold Kunert provided transportation for the band.

SELLING A SENATORSHIP
The Republican primary held in Pennsylvania was a nauseating affair. We have never had anything like it in any other state, nor in the days of Mark Hannah, Platt and Quay. That there was wholesale corruption in the election goes without saying. When paid workers by the thousands are freely handed rolls of bills that aggregate hundreds upon hundreds of thousands of dollars, it means but one thing, the Pennsylvania senatorship, so far as it is owned by the Republican organization, was bartered off to the highest bidder.

We do not know whether there have been violations of law that can be prosecuted or whether convictions could be secured in a state that is so politically depraved. But one thing is certain, and that is that if the successful purchaser of the nomination is elected, the senate has no alternative, unless it is devoid of all self-respect, but to refuse him a seat. To accept the beneficiary of such a system would be to approve the purchase of United States senatorships by any means possible.

The evidence brought out by the slush fund investigating committee testified to the fact that special favor seeking corporations and men of great wealth are trying to control government at Washington more boldly than ever before. Unless we speedily put a stop to such exhibitions of election pollution, we shall find ourselves at the mercy of extremists who will receive from the outraged public carte blanche to go as far as they like in overturning the constitution and established institutions. A few more scandals like this, and Fall, and tariff subsidies, with agricultural discontent unappeased, the wildest proposals for social and economic redress will go through with a whoop. Our political corruptionists and that part of corporate wealth which profits from political favors are as shortsighted as the brewers were in pre-Volstead days. If they do not pull the roof down on their heads it will be because somebody steps in and stops them by sheer force. Evidently they can be taught nothing.

CONSERVATION IN WISCONSIN
For some years Wisconsin has been lame in its conservation policy. The automobile, coupled with the development of good roads, has presented problems which did not exist a decade ago. The great increase in the number of home cars and those coming from other states, making it easy to penetrate to the most remote and hitherto inaccessible localities, has resulted in a rapid depletion of game and fish. It has also carried with it vandalism and carelessness that threaten our forests. Many young trees are carried out of the state despite the law which prohibits it, and forest fires are on the increase. There has been no effective policy against these depredations. There has not been a sufficient number of wardens to enforce the law, and some of those we have are not overly active in the discharge of their duties. On top of this there is a failure by the legislature to recognize the wisdom and necessity of establishing more and larger state preserves and public playgrounds. Money available for conservation has not been used, and as a consequence our valuable natural assets of this character have suffered severely. In fact, the conservation program of the administration has been one of almost complete inertia.

So serious has the situation become that the governor, following insistent demands from all portions of the state for protection against forest fires, fish and game slaughter, and other vandalism, called the emergency board together and an appropriation of $100,000 was made for conservation measures. A considerable portion of this sum will go for the purchase of modern forest fire fighting equipment and the rest will be utilized for the employment of additional game wardens, the purchase of bass beds on the Mississippi river, and for fish hatchery additions. This action comes after the governor had vetoed a conservation budget for approximately the same amount, and for approximately the same purposes.

Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman is authority for the recent statement that more than $500,000 was available in the conservation fund for the protection of out-door Wisconsin. If that is so, the indifference of executive authority to the raids on Wisconsin's wild life and its forests is inexcusable. The commercial exploitation of northern Wisconsin is in full swing. Choice sections for hunting and fishing are passing rapidly into private hands, and hunters and fishermen are being brought into the state by tens of thousands. Unless their sport is properly controlled it will be but a short time until our lakes and streams are without fish and our forests almost devoid of wild life. There are incidental problems of conservation like the pollution of streams and the indiscriminate slaughter of fish and game that call for strict enforcement of the law and probably the imposition of more stringent laws. It requires a thoroughly organized and equipped conservation department, with sufficient funds at its disposal, something we are woefully lacking in today.

If we look at the matter purely from a mercenary standpoint, the continuation of this policy of neglect is simply killing the goose that lays the golden egg, for our woods, lakes and streams are the greatest of our remaining natural resources. If we look at it from the standpoint of the rights of our citizens to the enjoyment of these assets for their pleasure, health and benefit, it is all the more important. All of the revenue derived from fines and enforcement of conservation laws should go to the promotion of conservation. Undoubtedly we could spend twice the amount the emergency board has appropriated to the good of the state, and that is what should be done. If we are not careful we are going to wake up one of these fine days and find that we have been asleep at the conservation switch while marauders robbed us blind.

NEW YORK'S PROHIBITION DRAMA
Down in New York State they are staging a great anti-prohibition drama. They are going to have a referendum on modification of the Volstead act, but that is only a prelude to act one. The star actor is Governor Alfred E. Smith, who enters the stage as the hero of the wets. Tammany Hall is the impresario. It has taken up the cause of old John Barleycorn, for the double purpose of jamming through congress the beer and light wine bill, and also to advertise the hero of the skit for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928.

The villain in the plot is Senator Wadsworth, who, reading the glaring headlines outside the theater, decided to force himself into the cast by coming out for repeal of the eighteenth amendment itself. This master stroke on the part of the senator has caused the Tammany group in the house to send to him a scathing letter, assailing his recent announcement and charging him with inconsistency in dealing with the wet and dry issue. If this round robin is admitted into the record it will become a campaign document which may be distributed at public expense. The Republicans are going to make a spirited fight to keep it out.

In New York state it seems to be a question of who can first put in motion a wet band wagon, canopied and in full regalia. Both parties are convinced that anything and everything is possible in an on tent with John B. They can't see it that way over in Pennsylvania, where the money they spent shows they took no chances. Evidently New York state is getting as provincial as New York city. Evidently Senator Wadsworth has not in recent years been west of the Alleghenys, nor Governor Smith south of the Mason-Dixon line, except on his mid-winter pilgrimage to wet Florida. However, they are having a great spree, and they are going strong while it lasts. Although the showing is good, we make one prediction: In neither the Republican nor Democratic conventions of 1928 will the voice or votes of New York state control.

SCURVY A DEFICIENCY DISEASE
Sometimes an infant on an artificial diet, an improper substitute for natural food, becomes very sensitive to touch or handling, seems to have no use of the legs (parents think it is paralysis), shows "black and blue spots" chiefly near the joints, has spongy or bleeding gums, a low fever, and perhaps bleeding from some internal region. That is scurvy. It is due to lack of vitamin C in the diet.

Fresh milk contains vitamin C. Canned, condensed, malted, boiled, pasteurized or evaporated milk is likely to be poor in vitamin C or without it. But fresh fruit juice contains much vitamin C, so when any of these substitutes are used as a main item in the feeding of a baby, the deficiency may be made up by giving the baby every day some fresh fruit juice, say orange juice or tomato juice or peach juice or apricot juice or lemon juice or berry juice or apple juice or the juice of any fruit that ripens in the sun. For a very young infant a few weeks old 10 drops of fruit juice once or twice a day would be enough. The amount should be gradually increased so that the baby will take a few spoonfuls of fresh fruit juice daily when four months old.

Even canned tomatoes—factory canned—contain the vitamin C. Canning processes in the home destroy this vitamin—cooking causes oxidation which destroys the vitamin. Factory canning is different—the tomatoes are sealed in the cans and then the sealed cans are heated, which is cooking in vacuum, without a chance for oxidation.

Pasteurization for the usual time—15 to 20 minutes—probably is more destructive to vitamin C than scalding or boiling for less than five minutes. But pasteurization is a necessary precaution to take with all market milk, lest disease germs be conveyed in the milk to the child—especially tubercle bacilli. The supplementary fruit juice feeding makes the pasteurized milk satisfactory for the feeding of the child.

When fruit juice is not available, the juice of such vegetables as potatoes, turnips, swedes, cabbage, beets, or any other vegetable, raw may be used instead. Wash the vegetable thoroughly, and wash your hands more thoroughly, then grate the vegetable finely, and squeeze or press out the clear juice for the bimbo.

Some boys in a private school developed a listless, inactive condition, fell off in studies and showed an inclination for play. The medical authorities discovered that a nearby shop where the boys had formerly purchased fresh fruit, had been closed for some time. The fruit shop was reopened, the boys spent their money for fresh fruit instead of candy, and soon regained their health. They apparently had a slight scurvy.

People whose diet is largely restricted to bread, meat and potatoes, are likely to suffer from masked scurvy. Fresh fruit should be provided daily when it is available.

Professor E. V. McCollum, noted authority on the question of vitamins in nutrition, says that fruits and vegetables may be canned at home without destroying their vitamins. The trick is done thus: Do not heat the fruit or vegetables at once when they come from the garden or market, but immerse them, prepared for canning, in slightly salted water for a few hours, then can them in the ordinary way. The explanation is that such immersion shuts off the oxygen of the air, and the small amount of oxygen in the tissues of the fruits or vegetables is soon used up, so that oxidation of the vitamin during the heating or cooking of the fruit or vegetables is prevented. In other words, drown the vegetables and fruit before you can them, if you wish to preserve the valuable vitamin C.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Strawberries And The Rheumatism!
Suffering from rheumatism I would like to know if I could eat strawberries without harm. (L. K.)
Answer—Whatever that may be. Here and there an individual has an idiosyncrasy or is peculiarly susceptible to oxaluria and such an unfortunate must forego strawberries. But the rest of us may eat our shortcake in peace.

SEEN, HEARD and IMAGINED
---that's all there is to life

We know an Appleton man who is so opposed to secret orders that he won't have a hood on his car.

His sweetie weighed three hundred pounds.

"Let's take a row," she said. But, when she stepped into the boat, they took a swim instead.

SLOGANS FOR AUTOBILISTS
Drive right and more pedestrians will be left.

Watch your "step on it." Taking the other fellow's dust is better than "to dust returneth."

Six feet have awaited many a driver who wouldn't give an inch.

Just because you see its tracks is no sign that a train has just passed.

Peanuts diary
June 15.
Dear dairy,
It ain't raining today but ma won't let me go treasure huntin' anyways on account of it being so muddy around here. We want to go to Funkin' Winters and me went to the movie show last night. It was all about a man dressed up like a girl which he did to spy on some robbers and after while he caught em with the goods and they all got arrested and he got lots of money for catching em cause he was a secret detective. Me and Funkin' is gonna be detectives, too.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE!
(This was not submitted by the advertising department.)
An Oklahoma girl advertised for a husband and landed one within a short time.

In less than two years the husband died, according to the local paper and left his widow an $11,000 insurance policy.

When folks ask you to sing, don't be coaxed—go ahead and do it. It'll be their own fault.

This isn't history, this occurred in London.
Master—What would your father pay if he owed the baker three pounds seven, the butcher four pounds nine and five pence, the milkman—
Boy—"Nothing, sir, we'd move."

A local merchant was asked: "Do you find that advertising brings quick results?"
"I should say it does. Why only the other day we advertised for night watchman and that same night the safe was robbed."

I noticed a sign on the back of a nigger the other day. It said "I'm not worth hitting, go around."

A FABLE
Once there was a man who kept a picture of his wife upon his desk. After many years he hired a beautiful stenographer. And still he kept his wife's picture on his desk. Moral: Make your husband keep your picture on his desk.

WAUPACA TO HAVE ANOTHER THEATRE
Second Motion Picture House Will Be Opened Within Next Month

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca — After having but one theatre in operation here for many years, a second show house featuring motion pictures will open within a month. The Waupaca armory, owned by Carl Cohen, is being remodeled so as to accommodate about 500 persons. The floor will slant toward the front of the building, and persons entering will face the audience and walk toward the rear.

To comply with certain restrictions governing play houses, a number of improvements are necessary, such as additional floor support and rear exits.

In the new enterprise, Mr. Cohen will be associated with Harry Balkansky and Sol Minkoff, all residents of the city.

Since its erection the building has been used by the local Howitzer Company of the National Guard for drill purposes. The upper portion contained six flats which are now being vacated.

Seventy-six boys and girls are enrolled in the second annual vacation Bible School, and at the Methodist and Baptist churches there are 60 enrolled in a like course. The course consists of Bible studying, note book work, sewing, basketry, scroll saw work, singing, supervised games, etc. The expense is borne by free will offerings and no tuition is charged.

NEW PAVEMENT IS NEAR COMPLETION
Road Between Waupaca and Veteran's Home Almost Ready for Traffic

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca — Morris Martin, general contractor constructing the concrete road between the Wisconsin Veterans Home and Waupaca, expects to complete pouring concrete by Wednesday if no further delay is encountered from the weather.

Saturday the big mixer had reached the city limits. That portion of the road from Chandy's Corner's to the city is being applied with calcium chloride in order that it may be used ten days after completion of the job.

When finished, this stretch of road will be one of the finest in the state, a 20 foot roadway, five foot shoulders and ten foot slope to the ditch. At the junction of State Trunk Highways 22.54, and 18 at Chady's Corners for nearly 1,000 feet, the road takes a width of 40 feet in order to care for the congestion at that point.

The construction is strong, with a steel rib set in the center of the slab throughout the entire length of the road and at every three feet steel rods set crosswise through the steel rib with steel pins through each end of the tie rods.

The slab in the center is 6 1/2 inches deep, and 9 inches at the edges. There is a slope of 2 1/2 inches in ten feet from the center to the edge.

Are You Serving Well-Balanced Meals?

The problems of food selection often cause the conscientious housewife a good deal of worry. Adequacy, wholesomeness, attractiveness, and cost must all be considered.

The Government booklet entitled "Food Proportions in the Diet" covers thoroughly every detail of food selection. It tells what kinds of food are needed, gives the proportions and amounts of food required, and suggests a number of menus for well-balanced meals.

Every woman who is responsible for the meals of a household should have a copy of this booklet. Send for yours today. Fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Cloudy tonight and Wednesday, with showers Wednesday and possibly in extreme west portion late tonight, slightly warmer Wednesday in south and central portions, and in southwest portion tonight.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
The low pressure or storm area has now moved to the Atlantic coast, with rains during the past 24 hours from the Mississippi eastward. High pressure extends from the Lake Superior region to Missouri this morning, with generally fair and cool weather. It will continue to dominate conditions in this section tonight. Low pressure continues in the west, however, and is developing showers again over the plain states. It probably will continue to develop and extend its influence to this section, with increasing cloudiness and unsettled weather by Wednesday and Wednesday night.

Car On Fire
A fire which started from a short circuit in the motor of a coupe owned by Dan Hennessy was extinguished by the fire department at 7 o'clock Monday evening. The car was parked in front of the Elite theatre at 218 W. College-ave. The department extinguished it with only slight damage to the machine.

EAGER SHOPPERS THROUGH STORES

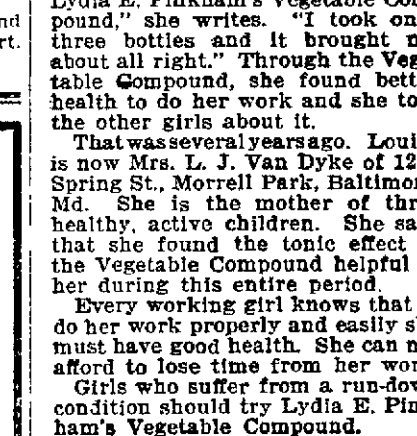

Salesgirls Dread Bargain Days

Louisa was tired. From morning until night she had been on her feet in the busy department store. No matter how she felt, she must serve her customers with a smile. Her head throbbed and her feet ached. Week after week, she felt her strength ebbing until she was in a run-down condition, not fit to work.

"My mother suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," she said. "I took only three bottles and it brought me about all right." Through the Vegetable Compound, she found better health to do her work and she told the other girls about it.

That was several years ago. Louisa is now Mrs. L. J. Van Dyke of 1246 Spring St., Morrell Park, Baltimore, Md. She is the mother of three healthy, active children. She says that she found the tonic effect of the Vegetable Compound helpful to her during this entire period.

Every working girl knows that to do her work properly and easily she must have good health. She can not afford to lose time from her work. Girls who suffer from a run-down condition should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

@Sugar is the substance, it is a real food, gives strength, and is one of the most valuable protectives against germ poisoning. That's why Bottled Sugar Drinks are best. In liquid form the energy is quickly imparted to the muscles. No tax on the stomach at all. You can drink bottle after bottle of sugar drinks and benefit by every bottle.

A bottle of sugar drink carries in perfect balance the elements that a hot, tired body craves for. It carries the sugar that quickly relieves the tired muscles. It carries the water that dilutes the blood and cleanses the veins and arteries. It carries the fruit acid that soothes the nerves. It hastens the removal of the body waste. Eat Sparely — Drink Freely. Keep a case in the house on ice, let all drink freely. Pure, clean and wholesome in every respect. Call for a bottle or call for a case of our products at your dealer. EXPECT 3,000 AT HOMECOMING EARLY IN JULY

Complete Program for Three Day Celebration by St.
Mary Church

Kaukauna—A generous response has been received from the invitations sent out to former parishioners of St. Mary church who are now living in other cities inviting them to come to the church homecoming celebration to be held in this city July 3, 4 and 5. Fully three thousand people are expected here for that day.

The work of cleaning up Kline's park, where all the picnics and dancing will be held, is about completed and work will be started soon on erection of booths and a handstand. The Kimberly band has been engaged to furnish music for the three days.

Everyone who attends the homecoming will be given a souvenir program containing the church history and activities as well as the names of the charter members of the parish. A short sketch of each priest who has had something to do with the building of the local church will be included. The program will be off the press about June 29.

25 BIRDS TO ATTEMPT FLIGHT OF 600 MILES

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Pigeon club will ship twenty-five birds to Mitchell, S. D., Wednesday evening. The feature race of the club, Mitchell is 500 miles from Kaukauna. The birds will be released at 5 o'clock Saturday morning and are expected back here Sunday. Members of the club do not believe it possible that the birds can make the trip in one day. If this race is successful it is quite probable that a race from some 600 mile station will be attempted. If not this will be the last race for the older birds and early this fall races for young birds will be held. So far the season has been very successful.

ALLEGED CHECK FORGER ARRESTED IN GREEN BAY

Kaukauna—Harry Ryan, alias Schultz, arrested in Green Bay for passing three forged checks there is alleged to have passed two checks in Kaukauna. One for $16 was cashed at Curry's restaurant on Wisconsin-ave and the other for nearly $50 was cashed at Lemke's garage on Wisconsin-ave. One of the checks was drawn on the Willow Grove Dairy and the proprietor's name, Mose Goffard, was signed. The other check was drawn on Appleton state bank.

His case will come up in municipal court at Green Bay Friday, June 18.

START POURING CONCRETE FOR DEPOT-ST PAVEMENT

Kaukauna—Pouring of concrete on Depot-st was started either Tuesday or Wednesday evening has been finished and the road is ready for concrete. The steam shovel has been moved to Taylor-st which will be paved next and much progress has been made in grading that street. The work is being done by the McCarthy Construction company of this city. The company is employing about 15 men at the present, but expects to increase the number soon.

Wisconsin-ave now is paved from Lawrence to Blackett and the last block just paved will be opened to traffic in a few days.

CALL OFF BALL GAME BECAUSE OF WET PARK

Kaukauna—The soft league ball game between the Thimlay Office team and the Volleys scheduled for Monday afternoon was called off because of the wet grounds. It probably will be played the latter part of the week. Homan's Transfers will meet the Clerks Tuesday afternoon. Both the Clerks and the Transfers are undefeated and a red hot game is assured.

REOPEN TOURIST PARK WHEN ROAD IS FINISHED

Kaukauna—The tourist park which has been closed for the last couple of weeks because of paving of part of Wisconsin-ave, will be available to tourists in a few days. Paving has been completed and the barnyard will be taken away soon. Many more tourists are expected to stop at the park this year than last because the park is better known.

BUILD RESIDENCE FOR POWER PLANT CARETAKER

Kaukauna—A modern seven-room house is being built near the electrical power plant at Rapid Croche in charge of the man in charge of the plant. According to present plans, George Stierf of this city will have charge of the plant.

The house is being built by A. Luckow of Kaukauna.

ROTARY, LIONS CLUBS HOLD JOINT MEETING

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The Rotary and Lions clubs held a joint meeting in the Congregational church parlors Monday noon. The meeting had previously been arranged as a joint picnic which was to have been held at the golf grounds, but which was called off on account of inclement weather.

The program meeting was presented by the Piney Woods School quartet, which sang a number of selections. The meeting was presided over by Herbert Ritchie, president of the Rotary.

WILL OFFER TWO NEW COURSES OF STUDY AT SCHOOL

Chemistry and Commercial
Work Are Added to Curriculum of Institution

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Plans are being made at the high school for additional room to accommodate the two new courses which will be introduced into the school next year. The new courses are chemistry and commercial work. The southwest corner room on the second floor will be made over into two rooms, one of which will be used for stenography and typewriting, and the physics laboratory will be divided into two rooms to make room for the chemistry department.

The new courses will give the local school an excellent curriculum for its size and condition. The quarters are exceedingly cramped, and will be more so next year, but this state of affairs probably will not persist after 1928, the year in which the city contemplates building its new high school.

Chemistry will be offered in the third or junior year. Stenography and typewriting will begin the same year, and will be concluded the fourth year. Two years of commercial work must be taken to complete the course. Physical education also is included in the program for next year, but as it has been included for the past three years, and has not been taught during that time on account of cramped quarters, it is probable that the subject will not be in next year's curriculum either.

The balance of the course which is being offered for the coming year is as follows:

Note: Subjects Marked (X) are required to be taken by students.

First semester of first year: English 1 (X); physical education (X); general science (X); algebra 1; Latin 1; home economics 1; manual arts 1.

Second semester of first year: English 1 (X); citizenship (X); physical education (X); algebra 1; Latin 1; home economics 1; manual arts 1.

First semester of second year: English 2 (X); citizenship (X); physical education (X); algebra 1; Latin 1; home economics 1; manual arts 1.

Second semester of second year: English 2 (X); physiology (X); physical education (X); plane geometry; ancient and medieval history; Latin 2; home economics 2; manual arts 2; bookkeeping; general geography; arithmetic.

First semester of third year: English 3 (X); physical education (X); medieval and modern history; advanced algebra; biology; Latin 3; stenography 1; typewriting 1; chemistry; extemporaneous speaking; debate.

Second semester of third year: English 3 (X); physical education (X); medieval and modern history; solid geometry; biology; Latin 3; stenography 1; typewriting 1; chemistry; debate.

First semester of fourth year: American history (X); physical education (X); English 4; physics; social problems; Latin 4; modern history; stenography 2; typewriting 2; Latin 4; modern history; stenography 2; typewriting 2.

All of the above subjects, with the exception of those designated as compulsory, are what are known as elective subjects. Each student must have 16 credits to graduate and must carry four subjects a year.

Of these four, students must include those subjects required by school authorities and choose the remainder from the balance of the subjects listed. Each student, in order to graduate, must have what is known as two major credits and two minor ones.

A major credit constitutes three years of study along a certain line of work chosen by the student such as three years of high school English, while a minor credit requires two years of work. The minor and major work during the four year high school course makes up ten of the 16 credits necessary for graduation.

FLOOD GROUP TO HOLD MEET HERE

Tripp Calls Meeting for Thursday Afternoon to Raise $600

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The Tripp president of the Association for the Relief from High Water, Mayor H. D. Haentze of Fond du Lac, and several other officials of the association, were in this city Saturday afternoon for another meeting of the association to be held here on Thursday, June 17. The meeting will take place at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon in the city hall.

The purpose of the gathering is to raise $600 which is needed to make a survey of the Fox and Wolf river valleys in order to determine a practical method of securing relief from the flood waters which destroy property in these regions annually.

The money will be raised by subscription, and will be added to the $600 which already is in the possession of the association for that purpose and which was granted by the National Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C. The $1,200 is the amount needed for the survey, which will be conducted under the personal supervision of State Engineer Jones of Madison.

The association has held several meetings in this locality during the past two or three years. This survey, which is the first step towards securing relief from flood waters, is the result of years of campaigning on the part of the association.

TRY LEMON JUICE TO WHITEN SKIN

The only natural way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orbeard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

STAGE AND SCREEN

BIG CAST IN NEW ROD LA ROCQUE FILM

The excellent story of and cast in "Bachelor Brides," Rod La Rocque's new starring picture, apparently passages for this rollicking comedy the heartiest approval of the film-going public.

Headed by Rod La Rocque, whose popularity with motion picture theatre patrons is conceded, following his outstanding performances in "The Coming of Amos," "Braveheart," and "Red Dye," the coterie of players gracing the cast of "Bachelor Brides," which will be shown at the Fischers Appleton theatre tomorrow and Thursday is well balanced and unusually brilliant.

Elinor Fair, to whom Cecil B. De Mille assigned the feminine lead in his personally directed production, "The Volga Boatman," is seen in the role of an American heiress, the prize sought by Rod La Rocque, as Percy Ashfield, a young English Lord.

Julia Faye is the designing woman, who seeks to throw a monkey-wrench into the well-laid plans of La Rocque, while George Nichols plays the portly Chicago "butter and egg" man, the father of Elinor Fair. Eulalie Jensen, George Nichols, Eddie Gibbon, Lucien Littlefield and Sally Rand complete an excellent supporting cast.

"Bachelor Brides" is the adaptation of Garrett Fort and C. Gardner Sullivan of the stage play of the same name. It is chock full of melodramatic situations and fairly sparkles with rollicking comedy touches. An old castle in Scotland provides a colorful background for the story.

HIGHLY ENTERTAINING FILM AT THE THEATRE

"Borrowed Finery," by George Bronson Howard, is the feature picture attraction, at the New Bijou today and Wednesday. It tells a story that holds the interest from its very start, and the direction is deftly handled by Oscar Apfel. The scenes and photography are excellent.

The story tells of a young girl who is employed in a large whole-sale dress manufacturing plant, who listens to the unwise counsel of another girl and borrows one of the fancy dresses from the stock room to attend a rich man's party. At the party she is hurried into a pool and the dress ruined. Unlike other plays with this plot the girl pays for her dress, but it is the means of bringing her in contact with an unscrupulous philanthropist who uses her for his sinister purposes. How she is saved from his snares and rescued combine to make this a picture of absorbing interest.

"THE SEA BEAST" "The Sea Beast" opened yesterday at the Elite theatre for a run of 4 days, and justified in every way all the glowing heaps of golden adjectives that have been piled up about this supreme effort of the Warner Brothers.

John Barrymore is the star, but even with Barrymore the one actor who brings to the screen the feel of that indefinable quality called genius, the drama of "The Sea Beast," is the thing. For "The Sea Beast," in its suggestive power in its overtones of surging life is more than a photograph; it is an epic of the heroic lives of the American whalers when, in their swift clipper ships, they carried their whale hunts through the seven seas. It is a picture of rich, colorful beauty of heart-searing pathos, of poetry that sings in action of courageous deeds of emotions as violent and eternal as the terrific storms that sweep through the picture.

The sea dominates, and even Barrymore, superb actor that he is, is less, as any human would be less, than the epic that flashes tumultuously across the screen; the epic of the American sailors of 1840.

Nevertheless, the picture gives Barrymore the opportunity for the biggest and most impressive characterization that he has given to the screen. As the New England harpoon er on the hunt for the great white whale, Moby Dick, he is so breathlessly fine that he makes even his own stirring performances in such pictures as "Beau Brummel" and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" fade from memory, insignificantly.

The beauty of the scenes in Java, the magic way in which the atmosphere of the East has been captured, the never-equalled thrill of the surging storms at sea, the anguished suspense of the battle with the whale, are some of the things that stand out most vividly.

But it is in the massing of detail that "The Sea Beast" achieves its total effect. Such things as the titles, by Rupert Hughes, the photography, by Byron Haskins, the scenario, by Eess Merdyth, are exceptionally fine, and dominating all, the magnificent direction of Millard Webb. The cast is long and perfectly chosen, the outstanding performances, in addition to Barry-

WILLOWS ARE PROFITABLE

MRS. GEORGE WALTERS HELPS HER HUSBAND HARVEST THE WILLOWS ON THEIR SWAMP FARM

Farmer Converts Swamp Into Real Willow Farm

Summitville, Ind.—Seven acres of willows on land that is low and swampy and not suited for other purposes, bring George Walters of Ripley county $2,000 a year.

Walters starts the willows from cuttings taken from the ordinary willow patch. These cuttings are usually 12 inches long, and sharpened so they can be set into the ground easily. They are 12 inches apart in the row and the rows are 36 inches apart. Cuttings are made from late winter until time to set them out in the spring.

Walters plows and prepares his ground as for any grain crop. Usually he cultivates new willows three to four times the first year.

The willows are practically useless the first year. The second year he sets one-third crop and the third year a full crop.

After the third year only one cultivation a year is necessary. A willow patch lasts from 20 to 30 years.

Willows may be cut any time after the leaves fall, but Walters cuts his in March. One man can harvest about one-fourth an acre a day.

The cut willows are made into bundles and taken to the pit, a hole about two feet deep. In this Walters places them, cut ends down in about two inches of water.

They are ready to peel after the sap has risen and the leaves begin to form. After being peeled, the rods are placed on racks in the sun to dry and bleach, and then are graded.

When Walters first started in the business he not only grew the willows, but manufactured them into baskets as well but now he sells them on the market and gets good prices, due to the great demand for willow furniture, baskets and such.

Walters harvests from one to two tons of willows each year.

MANY FARMERS FIX BUILDINGS

Repair and Paint Old Structures and Erect New Ones

Many farmers throughout Outagamie county are making repairs painting, erecting new buildings, etc. this month.

A large chicken coop 60x170 feet is being erected on the Vandergast farm in the town of Grand Chute. The farm has been purchased by Adolph Sachs who is planning to raise chickens on a large scale. The Fraser Co. of this city has the contract for the new building. Mr. Sachs recently purchased 1,500 young chicks.

Joseph W. Fischer of the town of Center, is erecting a large machine shed and Philip Hoffman of the town of Center, is building an addition to the barn.

George Gies, town of Center, has recently built a new farmhouse which has been painted this week. Other farmers who are painting buildings are: Chris Anderson, Freedom, house and barn; Matt VanHoof, Freedom; and John Waffie, Greenville, are painting their houses. Charles Peterson and John Huzar, both of the town of Grand Chute, are painting their barns.

CROP SEASON IS SLIGHTLY LATE

Corn May Find It Difficult to Offset the Lateness of Planting

Madison—The crop season in Wisconsin this year is somewhat backward, with the outlook doubtful, Paul O. Nyhus, federal-state agricultural statistician, reported today.

Oats and barley are reported uniformly excellent throughout the state. Weather conditions have been generally favorable and the condition of both crops is appraised at 92 per cent. The 10 year average condition of oats on June 1 is 90.9 per cent and of barley 90.6 per cent.

Winter grains have a low June 1 condition—32 per cent for both winter wheat and rye. The 10 year average condition on June 1 of rye is 87.2 per cent and of winter wheat 82.3 per cent.

Considerable winter killing of alfalfa in eastern Wisconsin and in the Green County region lowers the hay prospect. Mr. Nyhus said. "In the northwestern part of the state, clover and timothy meadows together with pastures needed rain on June 1. The state average of 83 per cent for

At 2.30 the farmers attending the demonstration will view the alfalfa stand on the John Kelley farm, three miles south of New London. This is now two years old and was planted in a field of blow sand. Later the farmers will see several demonstrations on the farm of O. P. Cull, one mile east of the Kelley farm. The party will then go to the Arnold Roesler farm two miles west and one mile north of Dale.

LIME DEMONSTRATION WILL BE REPEATED

Despite Sunday's heavy rains, a number of Outagamie-co farmers were present Sunday at the public demonstration of the results of lime on sandy or light soil, which was arranged by Robert Amundson, county agricultural agent. Owing to disagreeable weather, the demonstration will be repeated next Sunday. The same farms will be visited.

The demonstration is to be held at 1:30 Sunday afternoon on the Cuff

Four Places Where Heat Is Wasted

There need be only two

Only about one-third of the costly furnace heat is used in most homes. Another one-third escapes, naturally, through the doors and windows. That can not be helped.

But do you realize that the other one-third is wasted through solid walls and roofs in houses built with only the ordinary building materials? That can be helped.

You can build your house with Celotex Insulating Lumber; a remarkable lumber made from the long, tough fibres of cane. It practically stops heat and saves this unnecessary fuel loss through walls and roof.

Comfort with economy

The comforts Celotex brings are a revelation to people who have been living in heat-leaking houses. Celotex will keep your home warm as toast when the mercury drops way down... refreshingly cool in summer... quieter all the year.

Moreover, the proper use of Celotex saves costly fuel. A one-third saving is average; in many houses it runs much higher. A smaller, less expensive heating plant, and smaller radiators are needed.

How Celotex is used

AS SHEATHING, Celotex supplies the insulation needed back of brick, stucco, clapboards or shingles; it makes building paper unnecessary. This construction gives you a stronger insulated house at no additional cost.

UNDER PLASTER, Celotex replaces lath for inside walls and ceilings. Plaster is applied directly to its surface. Here, Celotex costs but little more than lath and plaster, and it gives a stronger, insulated wall, free from lath marks.

IN HOUSES ALREADY BUILT Celotex is being used to line attics and basements. That gives a big measure of comfort and costs but little.

The big strong boards are nailed and sawed like wood lumber.

No wonder building authorities everywhere agree that Celotex has set a new standard in American building practice. They are warning people that five years from now heat-leaking houses will be as out-of-date as houses without electricity or running water.

In justice to yourself, let us tell you more about Celotex before you build or buy.

Look ahead!

Heat-leaking houses are fast going out-of-date now that Celotex has made it practical and inexpensive to build insulated homes. Get all the facts before you build or buy. Your comfort, your health, your money are involved.

LOAN CLUB IS BIG ASSET TO WORKING MAN

Bachman Says Labor Should Cooperate With Building and Loan Societies

"A feeling of the greatest confidence and cooperation should exist between the working men and building and loan associations as it is the laborer more than any other who is vitally connected with such organizations," said Fred Bachman, president of Appleton Trades and Labor council in an address on Organized Labor at the Monday afternoon session of the convention of the Wisconsin League of Building and Loan associations. The reasons given by the local man for the workers interest in loan associations are that it is the laboring man who builds the homes and that the laborers are the principal investors and borrowers in the associations.

NO SELFISH MOTIVES
Mr. Bachman said this is an age when people think, act and talk collectively and that labor like any other group needs organization to function properly for the benefit and uplift of society. "Organized labor teaches economic fellowship, true sympathy and co-operation and has no selfish motives or ambitions," the speaker declared.

Organized labor has not only exposed the miseries of the factory system but has produced remedies which have benefited thousands of families by bringing about better working conditions. It has accomplished this by securing legislation which the workmen compensation act, mothers pension, child labor laws and old age pensions, the speaker declared.

"Prosperity is a community possession and not a privileged possession," Mr. Bachman said. "Building and loan associations have the opportunity of enabling the workman to become a home owner and thus help him to become a better citizen."

SHOULD BE BORROWERS
Clyde P. Diggins, Milwaukee, state building and loan supervisor said that a building and loan association could not succeed if half of its members made sacrifices to secure homes while the other half were interested in putting their money into the association because they thought it a sound and profitable investment. Mr. Diggins speech was entitled "Twenty Months Impressions." "Every member should become a borrower to operate an association successfully," Mr. Diggins said.

The speaker pointed out that there are the two classes—borrowers and investors—in a building and loan association and that for the latter who were not borrowers the association could simply be a cooperative saving fund in which those interested made regular payments and got back dividends. "The primary necessity of a building and loan association is mutual aid of purpose the speaker said."

The controlling idea of any such association, he said, should be the saving by people of small means to aid them in getting homes.

The latter part of the afternoon session was devoted to general discussion. Leonard Grass of Milwaukee proposed the idea of advertising the building and loan idea by radio. He asked the cooperation of associations throughout the state in financing broadcasting from Milwaukee radio stations, claiming that people outside of Milwaukee were more apt to tune in on programs from this city than those who lived there and thus the benefit of these building and loan programs would be general. This matter was placed in the hands of a committee of three.

A. F. Wanta, secretary of the Milwaukee County League of Building and Loan associations, proposed the employment of a full time secretary and the establishment of a central office in Milwaukee for the Wisconsin League of Building and Loan associations. He said the rapid growth of associations in the last few years made such a step beneficial and advisable in his opinion. The matter was placed in the hands of a committee for investigation during the year and a report at the 1927 state convention.

Men called on informally for brief remarks were Theodore Hammann, director of Sterling Building and Loan association of Milwaukee, and candidate for nomination of secretary of state, Joseph Crowley, Milwaukee, secretary of the largest building and loan association in the state and Judge John J. Maher, Milwaukee.

FIFTEEN RED ARROW VETS ATTEND REUNION

Fifteen members of the Red Arrow club will attend the state convention and reunion of the 127th Infantry at Marshfield Saturday and Sunday. The men signified their intention of attending at the meeting held Monday evening at Armory G.

The veterans will leave Appleton from noon to 4 o'clock on Saturday, making the trip in cars. Other members of the club who desire to attend the session are to call A. A. Gritzmacher for transportation. Those who go are A. A. Gritzmacher, John Voge, Arthur Bunks, Peter Reringer, Eric Galpin, Roy Kelson, William Tabor, Charles Green, Earl Ballard, Ray Simpson, George Wunrow, Earl Engle, Basil McKenzie, John Haug and Leo Murphy.

LAWYERS PREPARE TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Plans for attending the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Bar Association June 24, 25 and 26 in Kenosha were discussed at the monthly luncheon of the Outagamie County Bar association Monday noon at Hotel Northern. A number of the local lawyers will attend the state meeting at least one or two days. It was decided to suspend the monthly luncheons until October.

C. C. PROBERS URGE BUDGET FOR WISCONSIN

Seek Approval of Members for Plan Recommended by Legislative Committee

Creation of a budget system for Wisconsin and installation of a budget director with powers analogous to that of the federal director, under whose direction large sums of money have been saved to taxpayers, is included in the recommendation which the legislative committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce has submitted to members for approval. If it is favored by the majority of members, it will be presented to the interim tax committee at Madison in answer to a questionnaire submitted by that committee several months ago to this and other organizations in the state.

Copies of the recommendation have been mailed to chamber members with the request that they return their ballots not later than Friday, June 18. The report of the local organization must be in the hands of the interim tax committee within a few weeks. Members of the legislative committee which prepared the report are J. D. Steel, chairman, D. O. Kinsman, J. P. Frank, A. F. Kietzlen, and Seymour Gmelner.

The committee has refrained from making any specific recommendations for the reason that if all tax matters are to be referred to an impartial body of tax experts and economists which is suggested in the recommendation, then the place for such specific recommendations is before that body, the committee stated in its letters.

That an agreement as to forms and methods of taxation can be reached only by an earnest and comprehensive study of the subject by a wholly disinterested body of tax and economic experts, unrelated to party politics, is the belief of the chamber of commerce committee.

It believes that most of the differences which now exist and many of the criticisms are the result of a lack of thorough understanding of the subject. It also believes that our tax legislation is very largely the result of political expediency, that is has been developed to meet certain political ends of advantages, and that it is not the product of mature, competent and impartial judgement.

14 ALIENS FILE CITIZEN PLEAS

Naturalization Hearing Will Be Held Here on Armistice Day

Fourteen petitions for citizenship were filed Monday at the office of H. A. Shannon, clerk of circuit court, for the next naturalization hearing by Judge Edgar V. Werner on Nov. 11, 1926. Applicants were interviewed by George N. Danielson, United States naturalization examiner. Another filing day for petitions will be held in July or August for the November hearing.

As the hearing will be held on armistice day, Examiner Danielson expressed the hope that the various patriotic societies will again have an appropriate program in connection with the hearing.

The law which prohibited the filing of first papers within 30 days of an election was recently repealed by congress, according to Mr. Danielson, and an alien can now take out his first papers at any time. As aliens may no longer vote after taking out first papers, there was no necessity for keeping this law in force, he pointed out. In all of the states a person must be a full citizen of the United States in order to vote.

THOUSANDS OF EAGLES FLOCK TO CONVENTION

Plymouth Preparing for Record Breaking Conference of Lodge

Plymouth—(AP)—The largest state convention in the history of Wisconsin is anticipated by the committee preparing for the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles opening here Wednesday. Thousands of men and women from scores of Wisconsin cities are expected to attend the four day sessions. The women's auxiliary will meet in conjunction. Two hundred and sixty men and 100 women delegates will conduct the business of the convention, according to H. C. Mock, secretary of the convention committee.

Ten bands and eight drum corps together with 12 or 15 marching clubs and drill teams will participate in the parade which will be held Saturday, June 19.

Conrad H. Mann, Kansas City, chief auditor of the Eagles; H. R. McLagan, Milwaukee, grand trustee; Governor John J. Blaine, and State Senator A. E. Garey, Madison are among the speakers.

The opening session will be held Wednesday night when the Eagles will be welcomed to Plymouth. The first business session will be held Thursday morning when committees will be appointed and reports of officers delivered.

Col. John B. Schneller, Neenah, state president will preside. Entertainment will attract delegates Thursday afternoon, when automobile trips will be made to Kettle Moraine, proposed state park. The women will be entertained at luncheon at Elkhardt and Crystal Lake.

A special pageant of progress depicting the story of the Eagles will be held at the fairgrounds Thursday evening. It will be repeated Friday night.

Election of officers, delegates to the grand aerie and selection of the 1927 meeting place will occupy the attention of the delegates Friday afternoon.

Ritualistic rites will be performed Saturday morning with teams from various cities competing for prizes. Competition for bands, fife, bugle and drum corps will be held at the fairgrounds.

Senator Garey will speak at the fairgrounds Saturday afternoon after the parade from the downtown section. A public exhibition will be given by men and women drill teams. A fair well attended and consisting of a large amount of cheese factory supplies, utensils and equipment.

70 ENROLLED IN BIBLE SCHOOL

Expect Enrollment in Vacation Class Will Reach 90 by End of Week

About 70 students attended the Daily Vacation Bible school at First Congregational church at the beginning of the second week of the school Monday morning. It is expected that the number will reach 90 by the end of the week.

The school is open to all children of the primary and junior departments of the Sunday school or all those between the ages of 6 and 12. The school is to be in session four weeks and the closing will be marked by a picnic for pupils and teachers.

School work consists of graded worship periods and story hours with the teachers and the students telling Bible and missionary stories. Handwork periods are among the features of the work. Handwork will consist of the making of saw toys, sewing, basketry, making dolls, scrap books, blotters and maps. Supervised play and dramatization of Bible stories also will be a part of the work.

FLAG SYMBOL OF NATION'S IDEALS, ELKS ARE TOLD

Priest Is Speaker at Annual Flag Day Program in Elk Hall

Menasha—"The flag of the nation," said the Rev. G. A. Clifford in a brief address at the annual Flag Day exercises of the Elks Monday evening. "It is really the symbol of the nation's constitution. The flag stands for all for which the country itself stands. The flag is a symbol of the constitution and the rights that were given and maintained at the time of the adoption of the constitution."

"So we look upon the American flag which stands for everything for which the American republic stands. The flag of the United States is the banner of equality of liberty and fraternity; it is the banner that stands for justice to all and special privileges to none; it is a banner that waves in the breeze and announces to all citizens of the republic that they are safe here under the constitution of the United States; that they have equal rights before the law."

The exercises were held in the Elks lodge rooms instead of the city park as was originally planned. The change was made necessary because of the heavy rain the last two days. The program opened with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. Introductory exercises were held by the exalted ruler and officers and were followed by prayer by the chaplain, the Rev. John Best.

Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean was sung by the audience after which the flag record was given by C. J. Oberweiser. Altar services were then given by the exalted ruler and officers which were followed by a recitation by Miss Helen Jones.

Speaking of the Elks, Father Clifford said that his father was one of the charter members of the lodge to which he belonged and that he had often heard him speak in the highest terms of the organization, and that he always had a soft spot in his heart for it.

"You have heard the history of the American flag," said the speaker, "and it is not necessary for me to go into it in detail, or to tell of the origin of the flag, or the changes that have taken place in the course of time."

"Now, my friends, if we go back in history and study the origin of the thirteen colonies we will find that it was precisely because there were different traces and different religions that the United States government was born. We know that the 13 colonies harbored different people from Europe; we know they harbored different religions; we know they had different customs; and we know they had different customs which they had brought from the land beyond the seas; and they lived there in different lands and came to America where they knew they were free to serve Almighty God according to their consciences."

"Unfortunately in recent years there have been movements that have lined up citizen against citizen; that tried to disturb the peace and happiness of the citizens of the United States; and unfortunately some of these organizations have hoisted the American flag over their order and under the banner that symbolizes freedom of war, freedom of conscience and liberty they have started out to poison the minds of their fellow citizens and ostracize them in every way possible."

"Let us respect the American flag and what it stands for, let us realize it is the highest, the holiest, the greatest symbol of equality, and fraternity and freedom and worth; that it stands as a protector of all the rights accorded by the constitution; and when we do this, we will celebrate Flag day right and well."

MONEY RAISED FOR NEW CHURCH

Seek Bids at Once for Constructing Home for Congregationalists

Menasha—H. M. Northrup, chairman of the building committee of the Congregational church, announced at the children day exercises at the Congregational church Sunday that the funds for the new edifice had been subscribed and that construction would begin as soon as the contracts were awarded.

The plans were prepared by Auler & Jensen of Oshkosh and were completed last month. It was the intention of the congregation to build a structure to cost not to exceed $50,000 but the plans called for a structure to cost slightly in excess of that amount and a brief delay was necessary to the additional funds.

By advertising for bids at once the building committee expects to have construction work under way early next month and the structure completed before cold weather.

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOHN and FAY MILBURN, whom a baby girl has just born, buy a home of their own when the advertising man, in which John is a partner and copy writer, lands an important contract. Previous chapters told how John, while Fay was in the hospital, met NELL ORME at a party and was attracted by her beauty and puzzled to hear from T. FORBES that Nell was in trouble with her husband, whom she has a wife and five children, hints to John that he is dissatisfied with his marriage.

DR. DICK MENEFFEE, who is his best friend, gets married to MARGARET WAYNE, and ARA WAYNE, Margaret's younger sister, runs away and marries CLIFTON LANE, whom she ordinarily dislikes. Working late one evening, they encounter ELEANOR MASON, an acquaintance, on his way to dinner, and invites her to come along. Fay learns about through MRS. HENRY BLOTT, a neighbor, who had seen him and Eleanor together, and that is a quarrel.

Christmas Eve arrives and John and Fay decorate a little for Judith. Both are lonely the thought of spending Christmas away from their people in Chicago.

GO ON WITH THE STORY in names and situations in this are fictitious.

CHAPTER XVII
John took hold of her hand and said it. "Yes," he asked.

"I think I know how you feel," Fay said. "John do you feel the way I do—as if you haven't a d in the world?" "That's just the way I feel," he answered. "I wonder it is that Christmas always seems so long." "I guess," he said, staring into fire. "We're all little children here. We want the old spirit of Christmas, the carefree, happy I guess we're still longing the childhood days and Santa's."

John observed that "Well, how have things been coming with you and Dick, Margaret, since I put the hinders on you at your wedding?" "As far as our experience goes," Dick laughed, "it was a charm rather than curse," and he added, John, "I wish you'd forget that incident about the ring. Nobody remembers it but you."

"Anyway," put in Clara, "we all know how it happened now. An uncle of mine told us later that he saw the pillow slip in the little page's hands." "No, no," protested John. "Don't go blaming it on the poor little kid. It was I." Nevertheless, he was pleased and a little relieved.

Dick growled, "Oh, shut up, you blamed old idiot," and doubled his fist threateningly. "What does that mean?" laughed John in mock fright. "That you want another drink?" He rustled off to the kitchen again, pattering across the floor in his leather bedroom slippers that were constantly coming off at the heel.

"Hear about Paul Davidson, John?" Dick asked, holding his glass. "No. What have I been missing?" "Got pinched the other night for speeding. The cop that stopped him smelled liquor on his breath and charged him with driving while intoxicated. Had to pay a pretty stiff fine. Lucky, I guess, that he didn't get sent to jail."

Margaret spoke up. "He had a girl with him," she said. "Who?" asked Fay. "You'd never guess—Eleanor Mason."

Fay shot John a swift look, but he saw it coming and stared intently at his glass. "Was she—had she been drinking, too?" Fay asked.

"What a useless question—in connection with Eleanor Mason," glibly Clara Lane. "Why not ask whether a fish swims?"

"Being a lawyer himself," Dick went on to explain, "Paul got off with a fine and managed to keep the thing out of the papers."

"Poor old Paul," said John, shaking his head. "Always getting his foot in it." He raised his glass and drained it. "Oh, well," he murmured softly, "those who dance have to pay the piper."

After they had gone, Fay, gazing wistfully at them out of the window, said, "It's pretty nice to live in the same town with your parents and not to be tied down with a baby when you want to go somewhere."

"Pretty soft," agreed John. "Well, they'll be having babies themselves pretty soon."

"Yes," said Fay, rather hotly, "and letting their parents take care of them when they want to do something."

She got to her feet and left the room in a huff. John could hear her in the kitchen, preparing dinner. He joined her. Help you any?" he asked, anxious to restore her good humor. But she paid no attention to his question. Instead, she said, "I suppose you bought Eleanor Mason a drink when you ate with her that evening."

"Fay," he said sharply, and eyed her reproachfully.

greeted with a bombardment of "Merry Christmases." It was Dick and Margaret Meneffee, and Clara, Clifton Lane, John noted, was not along.

Fay kissed Margaret and Clara, and Dick, holding out his own lips mockingly, was surprised to get one himself.

"You're under the mistletoe, Dick," Fay exclaimed, laughing, as young Dr. Meneffee reddened in confusion. John made a beeline for the spot himself and stood under the mistletoe expectantly. "Here I am girls," he announced. "Don't crowd. One at a time."

Laughingly, Clara moved over to him and pressed cool lips to his. Margaret, blushing a little and giggling, followed suit.

"There you are, Dick," said John. "I've even. My honor has been satisfied."

"Seems to me you still owe me something," retorted Meneffee. "You got two for one. However, let it pass."

"Let me have your things," Fay said to the girls, but they protested that they had only a short while to stay.

"Well, we'd better improve each minute then," said John. "I've got a little cheer."

He hustled out to the kitchen and returned a little later with a tray and five cocktails. They helped themselves and Clara, holding up her glass, said, "Well, here's to a short and a furious one."

Fay, laughing, said, "Clara, you hock me. What's come over you lately?" and John asked, "Where is our hubby, Clara? Was he too proud to come out and call on the lovely Milburns?"

A frown flickered across Clara's face. "Oh," she answered, "I left him in Milwaukee. He was too busy to come down and spend the holidays here."

"Anyway," put in Margaret, "it's just as well. His people live there, you know, and he'll spend Christmas at home while Clara's doing the same thing here."

"That's the stuff," said John. "Give 'em a rest from each other," but Margaret switched the topic.

"We're going to move, Fay," she said. "We're leaving our apartment and taking a house. More in keeping with a doctor's dignity, you know," she laughed. "We're moving the first of the year."

John observed that "Well, how have things been coming with you and Dick, Margaret, since I put the hinders on you at your wedding?"

"As far as our experience goes," Dick laughed, "it was a charm rather than curse," and he added, John, "I wish you'd forget that incident about the ring. Nobody remembers it but you."

Margaret spoke up. "He had a girl with him," she said. "Who?" asked Fay. "You'd never guess—Eleanor Mason."

Fay shot John a swift look, but he saw it coming and stared intently at his glass. "Was she—had she been drinking, too?" Fay asked.

"What a useless question—in connection with Eleanor Mason," glibly Clara Lane. "Why not ask whether a fish swims?"

"Being a lawyer himself," Dick went on to explain, "Paul got off with a fine and managed to keep the thing out of the papers."

"Poor old Paul," said John, shaking his head. "Always getting his foot in it." He raised his glass and drained it. "Oh, well," he murmured softly, "those who dance have to pay the piper."

After they had gone, Fay, gazing wistfully at them out of the window, said, "It's pretty nice to live in the same town with your parents and not to be tied down with a baby when you want to go somewhere."

"Pretty soft," agreed John. "Well, they'll be having babies themselves pretty soon."

"Yes," said Fay, rather hotly, "and letting their parents take care of them when they want to do something."

She got to her feet and left the room in a huff. John could hear her in the kitchen, preparing dinner. He joined her. Help you any?" he asked, anxious to restore her good humor. But she paid no attention to his question. Instead, she said, "I suppose you bought Eleanor Mason a drink when you ate with her that evening."

"Fay," he said sharply, and eyed her reproachfully.

greeted with a bombardment of "Merry Christmases." It was Dick and Margaret Meneffee, and Clara, Clifton Lane, John noted, was not along.

Fay kissed Margaret and Clara, and Dick, holding out his own lips mockingly, was surprised to get one himself.

"You're under the mistletoe, Dick," Fay exclaimed, laughing, as young Dr. Meneffee reddened in confusion. John made a beeline for the spot himself and stood under the mistletoe expectantly. "Here I am girls," he announced. "Don't crowd. One at a time."

She said nothing, and he continued to gaze at her. Contritely, she moved over to him and kissed him on the forehead. "Tie up the turkey for me," she ordered.

After dinner, which was far from being the gala event they had planned, they took Judith out in her carriage and walked up and down the quiet little street for an hour or more.

Coming up the walk to the house, they were hailed by a voice from a large sedan that was drawing up to a stop.

"It's the Vaughnans," said Fay. "Tell them to come in."

John went down the walk. "Hello, Don," he greeted the man at the wheel. "Hello, Helen. Come on in."

Donald Vaughan, a tall, angular man with blond hair, pulled a vacuum bottle from his overcoat pocket.

"Brought over a little egg-nogg. I made myself. Here you are. It's still warm."

"Come on in," invited John, "and we'll drink it."

"My, what a cute baby!" exclaimed Helen Vaughan, stopping in front of Judith's carriage. "Hush!" she growled, though.

Donald, leaped over and wagged a finger at Judith. "By golly," he said, "she's getting to be a regular little lady. Here." He handed Judith a little package, and she grabbed it firmly.

"What is it?" asked John, and began to unwrap it. It was a rattle, with a teething ring on its end.

The Vaughnans went in the house, and John and Donald spent a merry half hour over the egg-nogg, exchanging good-natured banter.

When they had gone, John said to Fay, "Now there's more or less of a tragedy."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, the Vaughnans haven't any children and, according to Don, they can't have any."

"Why, you never told me that before, John."

"Didn't I," he said carelessly. "Well, I meant to." "And all this time," she reproved him. "I thought they just didn't want any children."

"Nope. Can't have any. Darn shame, too. Don's just beginning to make real money. If anybody ought to have kids it's those two. Both of them just crazy about them."

He walked over to Judith, who lay asleep in her crib.

"You're a lot of trouble, Judy," he said, softly, "but I guess you're worth it." He felt Fay's hand on his shoulder.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda, take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store, adv.

Kleen-Heet

Whether it be just a little heat for a little while, in the chill damp days of Fall or Spring—or consistent heat for days at a stretch in coldest Winter—Kleen-Heet gives exactly the right amount—at the right time.

This is the Kleen-Heet ideal—and this is its achievement!

For the Kleen-Heet burner is instantly efficient! Heat is needed. In a moment Kleen-Heet is working—automatically—at full efficiency. The need satisfied, Kleen-Heet rests. It is not strange therefore, that Kleen-Heet should be most economical of fuel!

Kleen-Heet is not an adaptation of the industrial oil burner. It is "engineered to a standard"—to do one task perfectly—to heat homes!

For over six years, Kleen-Heet has performed that task—unfailingly—economically. It is because of this record of performance in thousands of homes—under every test of climate and season—that Kleen-Heet is so dominantly the choice of the well informed.

A Small Item-But A BIG FACTOR

Interior Walls are the basis of 90% of all interior decorations. How tremendously important then that they remain free from the cracks and blemishes which repeatedly spoil the effect of the successive decorations put over them.

In thousands of homes walls of Climax Wood Mortar have stood the test of time. After many years they remain as perfect as when first completed. The reason is simple.

Walls of Climax Wood Mortar are all plaster; not 1/2 plaster and 3/4 sand as is the case with nearly all other plastered walls. Climax is almost entirely pure gypsum (rock) combined with finely divided wood fibre, the perfect bonding and insulating material, and is applied just as it comes to the job with nothing added but water. It produces a wall that is practically impervious to elements that cause ordinary walls to soon become marred and unsightly.

Be particular when it comes to plastering—a small item but big factor in home beauty—Specify Walls of Climax Wood Mortar.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-COTT TO LITTLE MARQUISE, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER—Continued

I have been writing you at long intervals lately, dear little confidant, but once in a while I feel as though I must talk to you and this is one of the times. Strange how much easier it is for a woman to keep her own counsel as she grows older.

I know when I was a girl I had to tell everything that happened to me and every reaction I had to Beatrice Grimshaw. Poor Beel! She's been dead many years, but although I think I have loved Ruth more than I ever loved her, yet I have never been able to tell Ruth the things I could easily tell to Beel.

When I have needed a confidant, I have written to you, Little Marquise, and I think it has done me quite as much good as though I had placed my confidence in mortal keeping.

Those faithful pearls are out of my hands forever, and from the moment they were not mine I have felt a great freedom, as though something was taken out of my soul that had burdened it almost beyond my endurance.

I know it's silly, dear, to be so superstitious, but I can't help it and I'm sorry. Paula Perce has bought half of them, but perhaps, as she is certainly not superstitious because she bought them, she won't have the bad luck I have had since I possessed them. I know that to anyone but you, Little Marquise, it would seem silly when I say I have had bad luck; when I intimate that I am anything but the happiest of earth.

You, my dear confidant, are the only one who knows all of my misfortunes. You as well as I, know that while money can bring material comfort, it cannot have the slightest effect upon the sorrows or the joys of the soul.

Little Marquise, I want you to know that I have nothing in my heart this moment which is not love and admiration for Paula Perce. She never really voluntarily hurt me. Indeed, she has always shown me the greatest consideration and respect since I have personally known her. All that tragedy of hers and my husband's was started at a time when she thought there was no other woman but her in his heart.

I expect at that time she only felt that she would probably be willing to pay for the estate bills she felt then. And she has paid.

Sometimes, Little Marquise, I wonder just how John will pay. For certainly the good Lord would not punish her unless he punished the other, notwithstanding all the lovely lines the poet wrote about "sins that were done two by two, and paid for one by one."

But whatever has gone between Jack and Paula and whatever will come, if anything comes, I shall always be less her for giving me my oldest son.

FRANK WALSH SCORES 158 TO QUALIFY FOR OPEN

Star Appleton Linksman Takes Chicago Course In 75-83 For Place In Meet

Jack Blakeslee, Kenosha, Also Makes Grade; Gallett in Without Extra Play

Frank Walsh, professional at the Butte des Morts country club of Appleton, will be one of three Wisconsin pros to take part in the National Open Golf Tournament at the Scioto Country Club course, Columbus, Ohio, as the result of his 158 score in the regional qualifying contest held Monday at the Calumet Country club course, Chicago. Walsh finished third in the morning round with a 75 but was unable to do the afternoon going under 83. Torrential rains made the first round of play difficult while cold winds that brought low visibility and almost sleet hampered the ardor of the golfers in the afternoon round.

It was so dark when the last player finished that it was impossible to play off ties for the last two places at which six men were knotted with 159 marks. It was decided to certify all twenty-two players who scored 159 or better, though a playoff of the "159" men may be held later. In addition to the qualifiers, the Chicago region has six players who are eligible without play. These include Francis Gallett, pro of the Blue Mound club of Milwaukee.

Eddie Loos, Chicago, led the field with a 70-77, 147 over the 6,614 yard links and Jack Blakeslee, Kenosha pro, turned in two neat 75's for second with a 150, to make the third Wisconsin man to make the pace. The fourth Badger, Bill Robertson of Milwaukee, missed out by a narrow margin. Chick Evans of Chicago, who holds the record score of 286 for the national open, finished in a tie for fourth with a 154.

New York—(AP)—Fairest to foul-est weather greeted the more than 600 golfers who went into the qualification tests of the National Open championship on 17 widely scattered courses Monday. A drizzling rain followed by sleet and cold wind presented themselves at Chicago, while in the Rocky Mountain region the course was soft from recent downpours. A shower of large proportions dampened the spirits of many candidates in the east.

But withal, 118 players qualified, although the rain at Chicago made necessary postponement of a play off in which two must be chosen from six who finished with 159.

There were a few upsets. The veteran Alex Smith, an open champion of 15 years ago, failed to reach the select list in New York district. John Black, who tried with Bobby Jones in 1922 for the runner-up position to Gene Sarazen at Skokie, went down in the Kansas City area. Jimmy Manion of St. Louis, veteran amateur also failed.

Several amateurs of calibre scored exceptionally, presaging trouble for the professionals in clinging to the open crown which Cyril Walker won in 1924 and Willie MacFarland in 1925. Chick Evans, the Chicagoan who paid his own expenses to England to participate in the recent amateur championship won by Jess Sweetser, was in a tie for fourth place at Chicago. Keef Carter, Western amateur king, and Clarence Wolff, Trans-Mississippi titleholder, gained the places at St. Louis. Denmore Shute of Huntington W. Va. scored at Cleveland and Max Marston and E. Clark Corkran at Philadelphia, and Eddie Held of St. Louis, Harrison Johnson of St. Paul and Jack Westland of Everett, Washington were other well known amateurs to place.

COCHET WINS TENNIS TITLE FROM LACOSTE

Paris—(AP)—Henri Cochet Monday won the International hard courts singles championship. He defeated Rene Lacoste in straight sets at 6-2, 6-4, 6-3.

Suzanne Lenglen paired with Jacques Brugnon, captured the International hard courts tennis championship in the mixed doubles Tuesday defeating Mme. Lebesneris and Jean Borotra, 6-4 6-3.

Ascot, England—(AP)—Miss Sport won the Ascot Stakes, feature of the opening day of "Royal Ascot" week in the presence of the King and Queen.

HE QUALIFIES

FRANK WALSH

Pro at the Butte des Morts Country club, who shot his way into the National Open golf tournament at the Scioto Country club course at Columbus, Ohio, on July 8, 9 and 10, by making up a 158 score at the regional qualifying tourney at the Calumet Country club links, Chicago, on Monday. Walsh finished third among the star Enkmen in the morning round, with a 75, which practically gave him the place in the big meet. In the afternoon he failed to go as good and marked up only an 83. Two of six more players, tied at 159, will make the grade when the playoff is shot.

LAMAY'S SQUAD TOPS KIMBERLY BALL LOOP

Kimberly—Buck LaMays squad of baseball hitters stepped out in the Kimberly Boys Baseball League and by virtue of a 16 to 3 victory took the lead. The Buckeyes knocked the offerings of Snook Bouressa about the lot at will, and scores in every inning of the game. Lyle Vanderveld was the bright light on the plate, while Buck LaMay with four hits and Babe LaMay, Vic Courchane and Jake VanLear with three each did the most consistent performing for the winners. Babe LaMay the pitching ace for the Buckeyes showed plenty of stuff, holding the losers well in tow at all times.

DEFEAT OF AMERICAN STAR BIG SURPRISE

One of the outstanding surprises of the recent women's international tennis tournament at Paris was the defeat of Elizabeth Ryan by Joan Fry, youthful English lass. The American fell before her rival, 7-5, 3-6, 11-9. The girl from England played the best tennis of her career.

VANCE FAR IN REAR OF FORMER RECORDS

Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn's great speed ball merchant, has a tough trail to follow if he's to reach the 20-game victory class for the third straight season this year. The other day Vance copied his first win of the campaign, after losing four in a row. And the chase is more than one-third over, too.

WOMEN GOLFERS PLAY ON LOCAL COURSE JUNE 28

Riverview Club Host to Ladies of State Association; Prepare for Meet in July

The enthusiasm of the women comprising the Northeastern Golf Association has not been a bit dampened by the late and otherwise discouraging spring weather. The annual meeting at Appleton on May 13, was a good indication of the numbers that are taking a very lively interest in the affairs of the Association and the game for the real pleasure and healthful benefit they derive from it. This meeting, the largest so far entertained, brought together a group of representative women, intent upon encouraging the women of all the clubs in the Association to attend the annual tournament and making it the affair of importance it should be in the social and recreational life of this section of the state. It is expected that an unusually large group of good players will attend this year's tournament at Fond du Lac on July 14, 15 and 16.

Miss Virginia Gittens of Green Bay, the present champion, will no doubt be on hand and as she has been a winner of the state championship and a very close runner-up on another occasion, she will be a formidable defender of the title.

Mrs. H. A. Barkhausen who won the title in 1924 at Green Bay, has had the delightful experience of winter practice in California on some of the best courses and will be another contender for the championship. In fact Green Bay has about the largest aggregation of good golfers in the association as Mrs. Rich, Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Parmentier, a sister of Virginia Gittens, all wield their clubs with great facility.

Mrs. John Harmon of Oshkosh, runner-up in 1924 and Mrs. H. L. Walker of Green Bay, runner-up last year, are both seasoned players and have an excellent chance with the rest of the field.

Among the younger women who showed promise of becoming champions in short order and who made good in their classes last year are Miss Joan Clark of Neenah, a member of the Riverview club who played low net score over the difficult Riverside course at Menominee, and Miss Ruth Plumb of Manitowoc, who won Class B trophy at the same time.

Invitation tournaments of one day will give an opportunity for good practice in match play and some of the clubs who have already issued invitations are the Fox River at Green Bay for June, the 16th; Riverview Club at Appleton for June the 28th and Oshkosh Club for July the 29th. Manitowoc on Aug. 3 and Sheboygan on Aug. 24.

Yale Crew Ready To Give Harvard A Tasty Licking

BY ART CARLSON

You may put it down that the Yale bulldog is all set to take another hunk out of Johnny Harvard's hide. It may not be quite as ferocious a bite as the Cambridge cousin has felt in other years, but all the same it should leave its usual after effect. This little feast is due to be staged June 25 when the Blue and the Crimson clash in their annual rowing carnival on the four-mile straight-away New London course.

For the last five seasons the Yale bulldog has toyed with the Harvard entry. In fact, ever since that famous upheaval in 1921, when Yale went out and whipped a Harvard shell that had entered the race a heavy 7-to-1 favorite, the New Haven canine has treated the foe with little or no respect.

This year a repetition of the results of recent campaigns seems certain. It may not be quite as elaborate a party as the Elis have put on before, but it should be decisive enough to leave no desire on the part of Mr. John Jacob Alibi to speak his oft-repeated post-mortem piece.

Harvard is stronger than it has been in some stretch. That's a cinch. But it still appears some distance behind the Blue of Yale. Yale hasn't met defeat on the water for the last three years. And the record looks good to stand for another season at least.

Further, the Elis have Ed Leader. And a Leader-coached boat must always be considered. They don't turn out rowing members any better than the man from the far west. Leader knows the rowing game and all its angles. Moreover, he knows how to teach.

Against Penn. earlier in the season, Yale had a mighty close call, it's true. The Quakers pushed the Blue to the limit; gave it the toughest battle a Lead-Elis combination ever has known.

But Penn is no pink tea outfit this year. Penn is really formidable and dangerous in any competition.

Shortly after the Yale-Penn tussle, Harvard met the Red and Blue paddlers. What Penn failed to accomplish against Yale, it put over on the Crimson. In other words, Harvard was outclassed. Hence, if the results of those two clashes can be taken as a criterion, Yale stacks up as a mighty good betting proposition in the coming Blue-Crimson races. Yale and Harvard have met on the water 46 times. Yale has 25 victories and Harvard 18. Since the war the Crimson has won but once, that being in 1920. Harvard holds the record for the event, 20-20, made in 1918.

I've signed up with P.A. for life

TWO months ago, I would have told you that I was pretty well satisfied with my smoking tobacco. I didn't know Prince Albert then! Gee, what a lot of tricks I missed without even knowing it. Never mind. I'm making up for lost time now. My jimmy-pipe is working double shifts.

I load up the minute breakfast is cleared away and hit it up from then until "lights out." That's one of the fine things about Prince Albert. You never tire of it. Each pipe-load tastes better than the last, if such a thing is possible. I know I'm set for life now.

Prince Albert is cool as a dip in the lake. No matter how hard you drive it, you never burn out a bearing. It is sweet as a check in the morning's mail. Fragrant, too, like fresh-picked flowers. Fragrant in the tin, and fragrant as you smoke it. Real tobacco, I tell you.

Maybe you think you are all set in the matter of smokings. I wouldn't stop there. Because, if you haven't smoked P. A., your best bet is still to be collected. On my say-so, and that of millions like me, why don't you try Prince Albert? I'll guarantee you'll be glad you did.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy old tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of blue and parchment removed by the Prince Albert process.

HELPFUL HINTS TO GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO.

FRANCIS QUIMET—DO NOT PRESS

It is difficult to convince golfers in the first year or so of play that they should not press. No one likes to be invariably short off the tee. The sole remedy seems to be to slug. And slug we do. The cost is frightful in slices, hooks, lost balls, topped ones and dubs. But this is not to be reckoned with if the player occasionally lands on one and gets that delightful thrill which only comes when we see our tee shot, brassie or iron eat up space. We immediately have it hot in us that such a shot represents our game, that it is always to be striven for.

How much better for us if we studied results at the start. Take a round of golf so played and let us keep our card. Then let us play another round, striving not for distance but for accuracy and sureness. I think anyone will find that the latter results in much lower medals and far better matches.

QUIMET—After all, the result is what we strive for on the links. And this result must be based on the entire round, not upon our good fortune in occasionally sending a screaming shot down the fairway.

WET WEATHER HALTS PAVING ON TWO STREETS

S. Mason-st Residents Circulate Petitions for Permanent Improvement

Paving on S. Cherry-st and N. Bateman-st, where work has been progressing rapidly, was halted Monday by severe rains over the week-end.

Pouring of concrete on S. Cherry-st on the west side of the boulevard from Memorial bridge to the city limits was completed Saturday. The east side of the boulevard will be paved as soon as weather permits.

Curbs on both sides on N. State-st from W. College-ave to W. Wisconsin-ave have been laid, and grading of the street is rapidly nearing completion. Concrete will be poured there within a few days, according to the contractors. Although it was originally planned to start pouring concrete at the north end, it is now probable that the work will start at Sherman-pl and proceed south to W. College-ave, thus allowing residents access to the street earlier than would otherwise be the case. This change in plans has not been definitely decided upon, however.

NO MORE PAVING
It is not likely that any other streets will be paved this year, as with the completion of the two projects now under way, the money set aside for this purpose in budget will be exhausted, according to Mayor Albert C. Rule.

If residents desire any street to be paved, their request will be given consideration, however, and the work will be completed if it is possible this year, the mayor said. If not, the work will be undertaken next year.

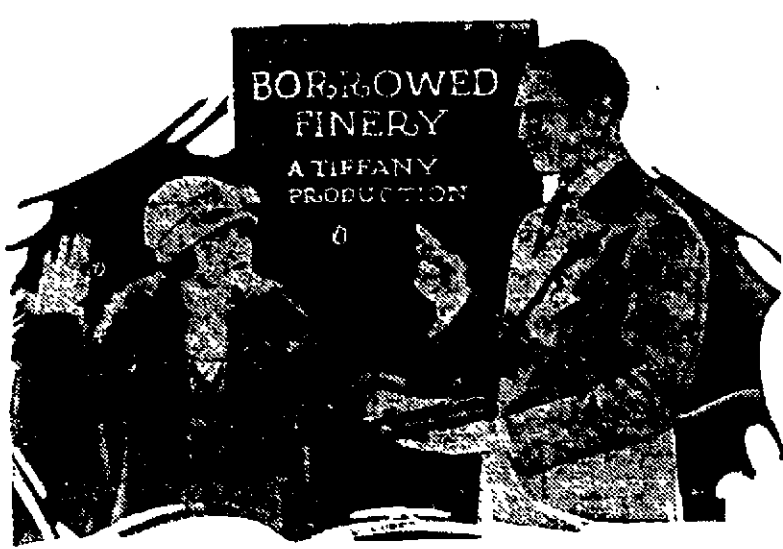

A petition asking that S. Mason-st from W. College-ave to W. Prospect-ave be paved is now being circulated. A majority of the residents there already have signed it. The petition will be presented to the council in the near future. Other streets which will undoubtedly be paved at the earliest possible moment are the Jackson-st hill and S. Superior-st, each project being approximately one block in length.

REPAIR STREETS
Other street work this summer will be confined to repairs. It has been indicated by city officials. This includes leveling surfaces, and grading and preparing for cindering. Holes in the surface of Wisconsin-ave have been filled, and a street department crew is now prepared to grade Cinder-st for cinders.

Lumber which will be used for the repair of the S. Lawrence-st bridge has not yet been received, and work on the bridge cannot start until it arrives. It has been ordered from the state of Washington. Planking on the structure will be torn up and new planking laid. The work will require about a week.

STATE GIVES COUNTY $53,392 FOR ROADS
Funds available for state trunk highways in Outagamie-co during 1926 amount to $53,392.32, according to a letter received Friday by A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, from the Wisconsin Highway committee. Since 1922 the state highway fund for the county has nearly doubled, the appropriation for that year being $28,861.25. The 1925 fund for Outagamie-co was $48,783. In 1922 there were 20 state and county trunk highway patrolmen in the county. This year there are 47 patrolmen.

FOUR NEW RESIDENCES AUTHORIZED LAST WEEK
Building permits authorizing construction of four residences, five garages and three miscellaneous projects at a total estimated cost of $14,540 were issued last week by Walter Zschaschneider, building inspector. None of the proposed building projects were large, the highest estimated cost for any single one being $4,600 for a residence and garage.

Modern Physician Should Have More of the Spirit of the Doctor of the Horse and Buggy Age

No. 7

BY DR. HAMILTON FISK BIGG "It (Physician to John D. Rockefeller Sr. President William McKinley, Mark Hanna, and a practicing physician and surgeon for 63 years)

Our country needs a rebirth of the horse and buggy physician. By this I do not literally mean a flock of young men and women going about in buggies, saying "giddap" to poky nags, when they might be getting to their sick patients much more quickly by driving a flivver, but I mean a rebirth of the spirit that dwelt in doctors back in the horse and buggy days.

A doctor a half century ago was not just a doctor. He was educator, political leader, marital adviser, home decorator, minister, and doctor.

He was a friend of every family which he visited once or many times, and the secrets and family skeletons of his patients were as safe with him as though locked in their own hearts.

DAY OF SPECIALIZATION
This is a day of specialization. We have doctors and ministers and teachers and politicians. It is only natural that today's doctors should want to do his job well and let the other fellows do theirs.

But it is not so easy for a doctor to draw the line between what is his job and the next man's. Mental and spiritual ills are closely knit with the physical, and to do his own specific job, the physician must do a little bit of the minister's, educator's, social worker's, and that of other men.

So I would counsel any young man or woman planning to enter the medical field to be sure that they have the sympathetic heart, a winning manner, the true desire to serve humanity, and to count the real rewards those of a mother's blessing rather than a bag of gold.

I would ask any young person planning to be a doctor, whether he or she—for I was one of the first physicians in the country to welcome women to this profession, and think that we need them—can and will put the physician's duties before everything.

WHEREVER CALLED
If a young doctor cannot say with the fullest conviction that as long as physical and mental ability endures, he will go whenever and wherever the call takes him, even if it be from the bedside of a sick child or from a lonely wife, he should seek another profession.

I would ask young men and women equipped for medical practice today to go into the country, the poorer places, where they are needed. Even today there are places where nothing is so badly needed as the old-fashioned "horse and buggy" doctor, but with modern ideas of sanitation and service.

If I were head of a medical school I would discourage any but all-around young men and women from entering

THREE APPLETON PEOPLE AT BAPTIST CONVENTION

Religious education and evangelism will be discussed at the eighty-second annual meeting of the Wisconsin Baptist State convention at Stevens Point, June 21 to 24. Officers will be elected and reports of committees will be heard. The Baptist Women's Missionary society will hold its annual meeting in conjunction with the state convention.

The Rev. E. M. Salter, pastor of First Baptist church, Mrs. E. M. Salter, secretary of the Green Bay Baptist association, and Mrs. E. J. Peterson, representative of the local church and the missionary society will attend the convention.

Principal speakers at the convention will be Dr. Herbert W. Virgin, Chicago, who will deliver an address at the Ministerial Union meeting in the evening of June 21. Superintendent J. F. Hartman of the Wisconsin anti-saloon league, the Rev. Ralph Barry, Eau Claire, and the R. C. Speer, Milwaukee, are on the program for June 22.

The Rev. G. C. Browne director of religious education, the Rev. G. C. Mitchell, director of evangelism, the Rev. J. D. Stevenson, Beloit, and Dr. Frank Smith, New York, are among the important speakers on June 23.

—young people of character, reliability, desire to serve.

Physical health is the greatest asset next to character that a doctor must have. This job takes an infinite amount of energy, vim, vitality. More than a half century ago I called on a patient almost daily, walking a distance of 15 to 20 miles to reach him. My fee for a dozen such calls was $15. It took health to do that. And it takes health and energy to do what any doctor must do even in this day of good roads and autos.

NOT TO BE FLIRTED WITH
I want to see only young people truly in love with the profession enter it. I cannot tolerate flirtations with it. It is too dignified.

My own first job remotely connected with medicine was to clean the horses for several doctors. In exchange for this they permitted me to see some of their operations and visit the clinics. When one doctor whose horse I tended found that I could read and write, he promoted me from stable boy to bookkeeper.

I saw the beautiful vision of healing the sick and making the lame to walk. If I could live my 87 years over I would choose no greater gift than the privilege of serving as a doctor and surgeon.

Father's Day June 20th

Give Dad A Tie

Mother and "Mammy" have long been lauded in song and story — while Dad just set back out-o'-sight like and plugged along unnoticed.

Came the suggestion of "Father's day" — a day of recognition for Dad. And with it the happy thought "give Dad a tie."

Certainly Dad has earned this recognition—and we know he will appreciate your gift of an attractive tie on Father's Day, June 20th.

Give Dad a tie — a tie of friendship—gratitude and love. Give Dad one of our ties and you give him the best of what he wears most.

Each tie in a handsome box. $1.00 — $1.50 — $2.00 — $3.00
